WILD WELCOME FOR KING AND QUEEN

VAST CROWD GREET BRITISH RULER ON PARIS STATE DRIVE

Scenes Reminiscent of London's Coronation Day Greet Visitors

Boulogne, July 19.
Their Majesties the King and Queen entrained for Paris at 1.10 p.m. standing at the window of their sumptuous drawing-room coach and waving and smiling at the cheering crowd.

M. Georges Bonnet, the French Foreign Minister, left here by a fast rail car five minutes previously, in order to arrive in Paris in time to greet the King and Queen at the Quai d'Orsay.

Although the Royal train was not due to arrive at Paris much before 5 p.m., crowds were already massing in the early hours of the morning, crowding the flower-embowered route from the Bois de Boulogne Station to the Quai d'Orsay.

Loud speakers in the Champs Elysees entertained the waiting multitude with operatic airs.

Although the day was not a public holiday many shops closed in the afternoon, enabling the employees to obtain early places along the route.

By 3 p.m. crowds estimated at 60,000 had already gathered along the streets to witness the State drive to Elysee Palace, cheering the mounted detachments of Spahis as they rode by in red tunics, white cloaks and blue breeches.—Reuter.

Ceremonial Presentations

Paris, July 19.
Their Majesties arrived at the Bois de Boulogne Railway Station at 4.50 p.m. as a salute of 101 guns was fired from Mont Valerian fortress.

The station was decorated with impressive splendour and taste. In the centre of the arrival platform a space fifty yards across was curtained off as a dais of honour, with crimson draperies sweeping from the roof.

Two companies of Marines presented arms and the band played the British National Anthem and the Marseillaise as President Lebrun stepped forward to greet the King with a handshake and Madame Lebrun welcomed the Queen.

A general presentation of Cabinet Ministers and other notabilities followed, the engine driver of the Royal train being included.

President Lebrun then offered the Queen his arm, the King offered his to Madame Lebrun and the procession moved to the specially erected 50-foot high reception hall outside the station, decorated with white, red and gold, hung with priceless tapestries, and resplendent with banks of flowers, where further presentations took place.

Their Majesties then descended to waiting motor cars.

BRITISH STEAMER AGROUND
Manila Vessel is Offering Help

Manila, July 19.
The British freighter City of Derby, 6,016 tons, owned by the Ellerman-Bucknall Line, has issued an S.O.S., saying she is aground on Silbo Island, midway between Mindanao and Negros Island.

Later messages state that the ship is not leaking and is lying quietly. The weather is moderate. The steamer Luson has offered assistance.—United Press.

CORRIGAN LOSES LICENCE

Unable To Fly His Plane From Eire

Washington, July 19.
Douglas Corrigan, 33-year-old Irish-American who claims to have flown the Atlantic by mistake, has been deprived of the licence for his plane by the Air Commerce Bureau here.

This move prevents Corrigan leaving Dublin by air in his own machine.—Reuter Bulletin.

Corrigan landed in Eire yesterday after a 28-hour crossing of the Atlantic, but declared he had intended to fly from New York to Los Angeles, non-stop, and owing to failure of his very few instruments took an easterly instead of a westerly course.

His plane has been described as being held together with wire and his de-icer equipment was a long rod.

PUNISHED AND CONGRATULATED
Dublin, July 19.
The Irish Customs Department has detained Corrigan's battered plane as a result of the action of the U.S. Department of Commerce in suspending its certificate.

Corrigan states that he will endeavour to obtain the release of the plane and, if successful, will fly to London within the next few days, after which his plans are indefinite. However, he may fly to Glasgow to put the plane on exhibition at the British Empire Exhibition.

Corrigan to-day visited the Government Buildings and gave Premier de Valera a first-hand account of his amazing flight.

He awoke at 9 a.m. and read a sheaf of congratulatory cables from all over the world. One was from Henry Ford, the motor magnate.

Queen Marie's Body to Lie In State

Bucharest, July 19.
Queen Marie's body has been removed to King Carol's Palace at Penesh, outside Sibiu, where it will lie in state for two days. On Thursday a special train will carry the body to Bucharest and on Sunday the entire Royal family will accompany the remains to the nearby monastery of Curta de Arges, the burial place of Rumanian Royalty.—United Press.

STRONGER ACTION DEMANDED

Japan Dissatisfied With Steps Taken To Stop Terrorism

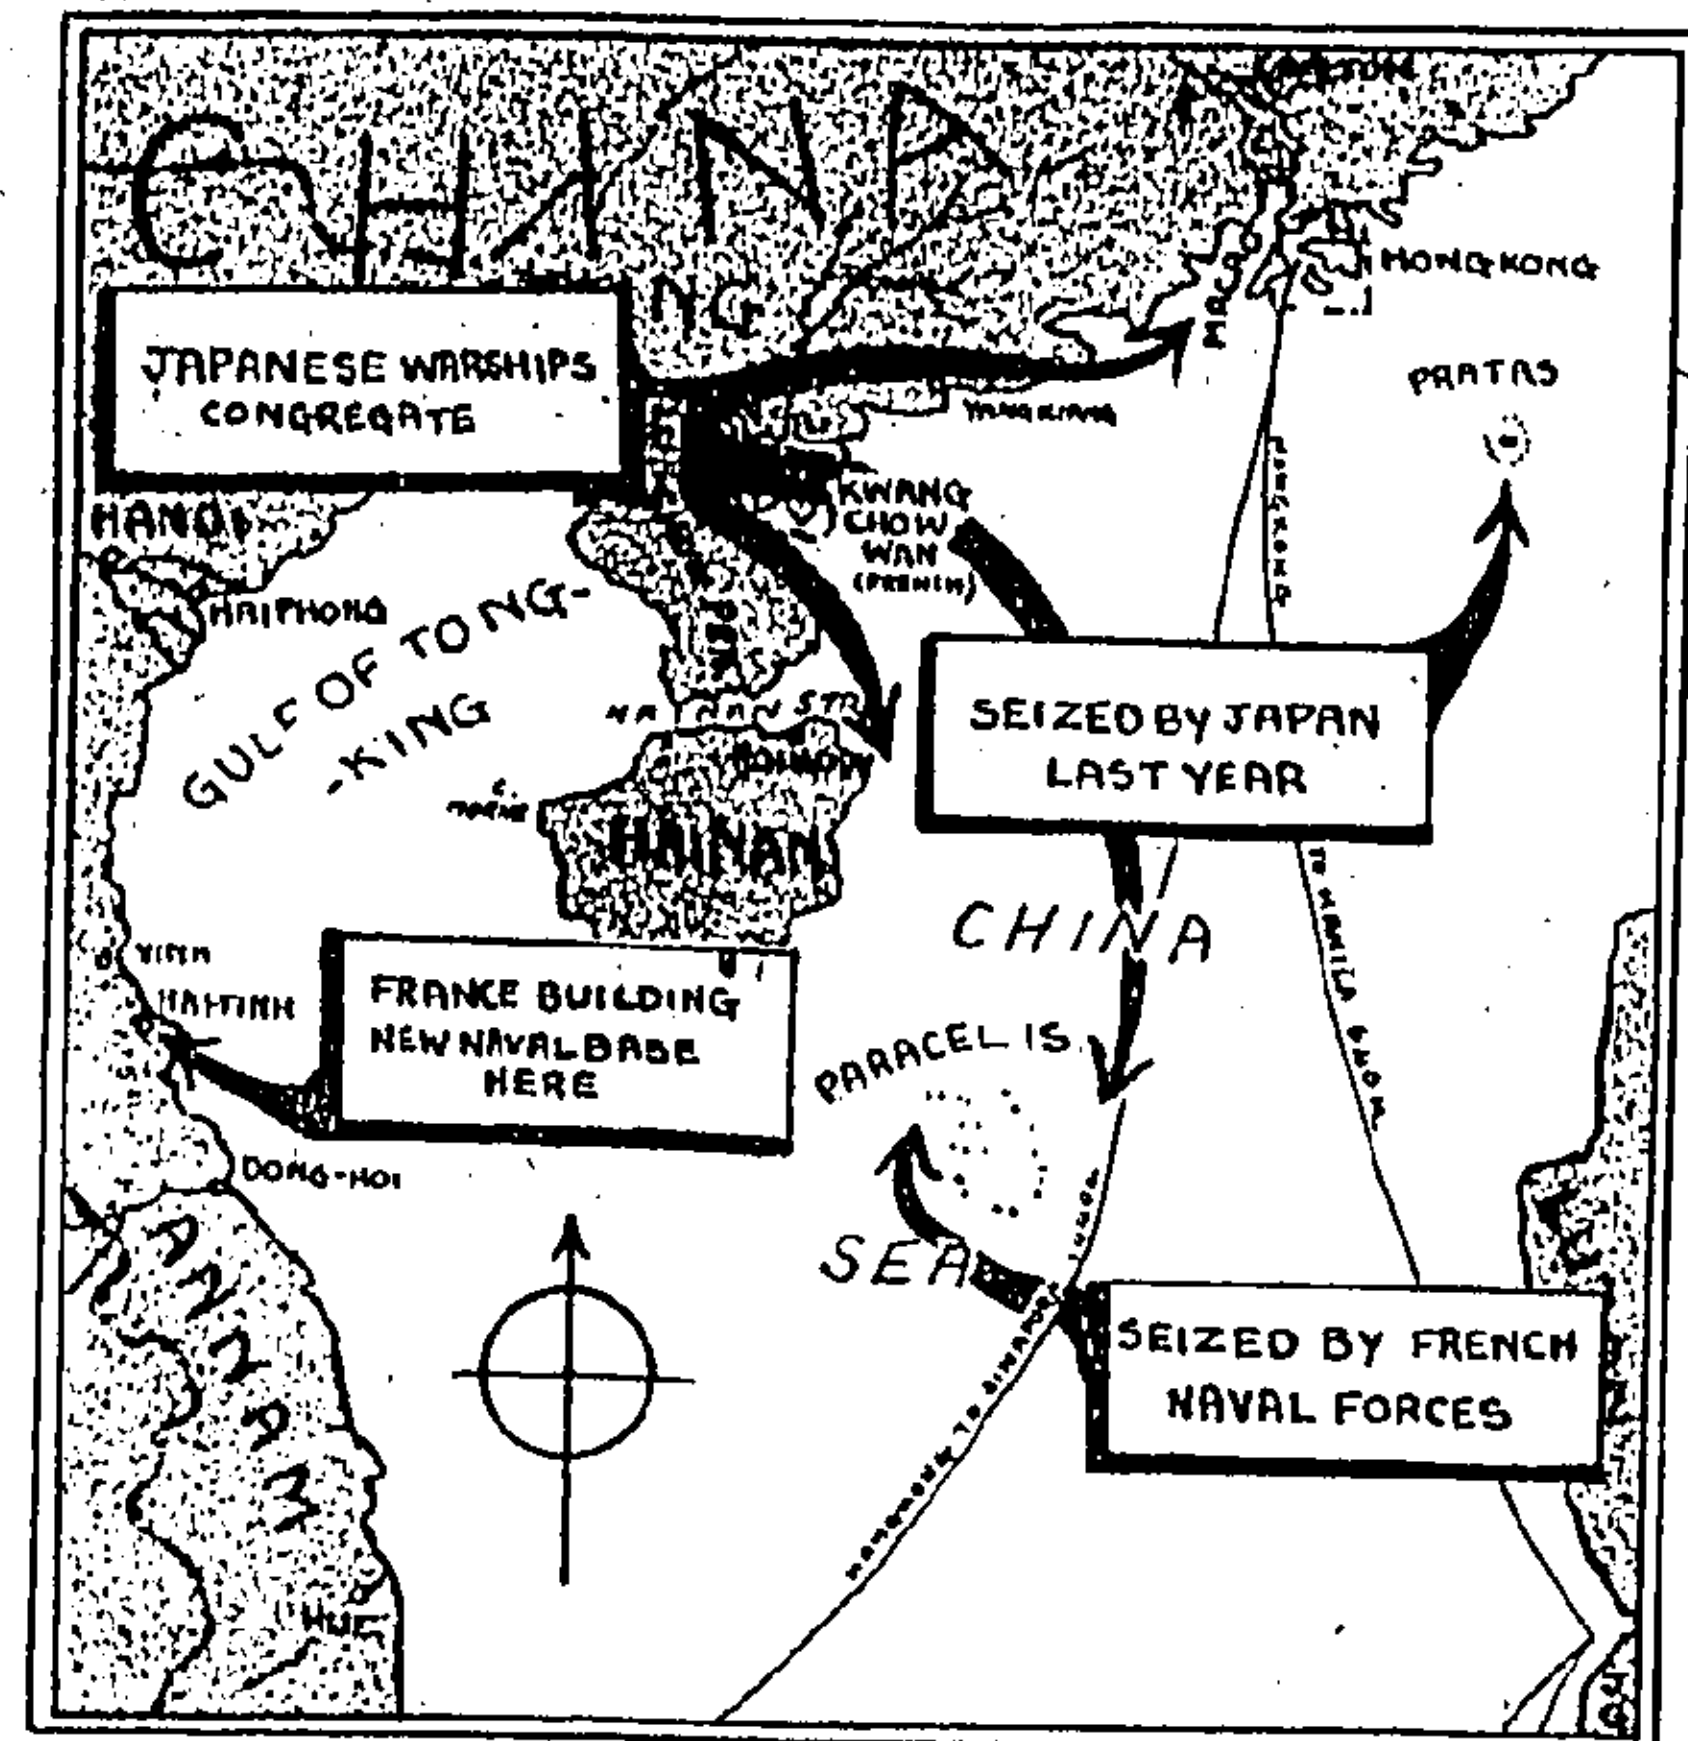

Shanghai, July 20.
Despite the new emergency proclamation of the Shanghai Council aiming at the stamping out of widespread terrorism that has flourished in the International Settlement for months past, local Japanese are agitating for still stronger action in view of the approach of August 13, anniversary of the date of the outbreak of fighting in the Shanghai area.

A statement bitterly assailing the Municipal Police for failure to seize "even a single culprit" in the July 7 outrages has been issued by the Foreign Relations Committee of the Japanese Residents' Corporation.

Japanese reports state that demands for more drastic measures by the municipal police against terrorists will be conveyed to the Japanese Consulate-General by the President of the Corporation for transmission to the Municipal Council.

The alleged inefficiency of the Municipal Police is ascribed in the statement to "lack of training" and to the negligence of responsible police officials.—Reuter.

Germany Sends Halifax Urgent News

SCENES OF ALTERCATION shift swiftly in these times. A few days ago the world was watching the Paracels group, half anticipating that Japan and France might come to serious dispute over their administration, and although the matter has not been wholly settled the spheres of tension in Czechoslovakia and Manchukuo have overshadowed the minor Paracels trouble. The above map shows the relative importance of the group, however.

SECOND JAPANESE GENDARME SHOT BY SOVIET GUARD

New Tension Injected In Border Dispute

Hsinking, July 20.
Injecting new tension into the strained relations between Soviet Russia and Japan, a Japanese gendarme near Hulin, along the eastern frontier, was shot and wounded by Soviet frontier guards on Monday, according to Japanese reports.

The condition of the gendarme is not serious. The Manchukuoan authorities have instructed the Foreign Affairs Commissioner at Harbin to file a strong protest.—Reuter.

United Press adds that the wounded gendarme, accompanied by four Manchukuo Border Guards, set out from Hulin yesterday to investigate the alleged kidnapping by Soviet frontier patrols of Manchukuo fishermen on the Ussuri on June 29.

The boat in which the party was riding was subjected to a fusillade from the Soviet shore.

Protection Promised To British Ships

Navy Prepared To Act In Far East

London, July 19.
The status of British shipping in Far Eastern waters was discussed in the House of Commons to-day when Mr. G. L. Mander, Labour M.P. for East Wolverhampton, asked what steps were being taken to protect British and Dominion shipping in the China Seas from deliberate attacks by aircraft.

Mr. R. A. Butler, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said that the Government had not found it necessary since December to take special steps regarding British ships in the Far East.

There have been no further attacks on British ships, he declared. If, as he trusted would not be the case, any further attacks occur, His Majesty's ships would take such action as was practicable. The position at present was for British shipping to communicate with the Japanese authorities when any pre-

Foreigners Volunteer At Hankow

Ready To Undertake Municipal Duties

Hankow, July 20.
Priests, missionaries, consular officials business men were among those who packed the Hankow Club for a meeting, called by the Foreign Residents' Association, of all persons who offered their services for voluntary duties in the former British Concession in the event of extreme urgency.

The object of the meeting was to discuss details for assistance to the Council should such assistance be necessary, including help for the police, fire brigade and sanitary departments.

It was emphasised at the meeting that the service was purely municipal and that there was no question of fighting or any drastic steps. The idea will be tried first in the former British Concession and probably will be extended later to other districts.—Reuter.

cautions appeared desirable. Mr. Mander asked if the position was precisely the same in the Far East and Spain.

"No," because in the Far East British warships have certain treaty rights in China's ports and territorial waters," Mr. Butler replied.—Reuter.

ALLEGEDLY STATES SUDETEN PROBLEM MUST BE SETTLED

Hitler Much Dissatisfied With Prague Negotiations

Berlin, July 19.
Captain Wiedemann, aide-de-camp to Herr Adolf Hitler, who is visiting London, talked with Lord Halifax, the Foreign Minister, to-day. The visit of the German officer is described as private in nature, but it is believed here that Captain Wiedemann is emphasising the urgency of the Czechoslovakian problem.

It is believed he told Lord Halifax that there must be no further delay in finding a solution.

It is known that Herr Hitler is dissatisfied in the extreme with the progress between the Sudeten Germans and the Czech Government.

CHINESE HOLDING GRIMLY

Shore Guns Halt Naval Attack

Hankow, July 20.
Severe fighting is progressing on the south bank of the Yangtze River near Lion Hill, where the Chinese are battling desperately in terrific heat to halt the Japanese advance.

Despite support from more than 20 gunboats which poured a steady stream of lead into the Chinese lines, the Chinese claim that the Japanese have failed to make much progress during the past 24 hours.

According to a Chinese military communique a flotilla of 40 Japanese warships, accompanied by over ten motor launches, dropped anchor at Yanchiawan, at the neck of Poyang Lake, with the intention of landing men on the north bank of the Yangtze, but the Chinese shore batteries opened up such an intensive fire that the warships were forced to retire without accomplishing their purpose.—Reuter.

INSURGENT BOOTY VERY BIG

Half Of Loyalists' Losses Prisoners

Burgos, July 19.
War materials captured by the insurgents during the second year of the Civil War comprise, according to an official communique, the following:

413 guns;
1,782 machine guns;
1,600 machine revolvers;
131,639 rifles;
1,188 trench mortars;
120 tanks;
721,000 hand grenades;
340,000 rounds of ammunition.

Territory captured since July 18, 1937 comprises 7,007 square miles, containing a population of 1,764,000 people.

Loyalist aeroplanes shot down totalled 452 and Loyalist casualties were 300,000, of whom 160,000 were taken prisoner.—Trans-Ocean.

It is felt that while Germany might accept a compromise with regard to the treatment of the Sudeten and acquiesce in a degree of local autonomy, the Reich authorities are not prepared to tolerate a continuance of Czechoslovakia's "connection with Russia," which is held responsible for the "incidents" on the Czech side of the frontier.

Czechoslovakia has a defensive understanding with the Soviet, as has France, and France, Russia and Great Britain have guaranteed Czechoslovakia's security.—Reuter.

Inner Cabinet Meets

Prague, July 19.
Despite the continued allegations in the German press that the Czechoslovakian authorities are mobilising their frontier defence, the Czech Government has declared everything to be normal in the capital, with traffic, postal and telegraphic communications functioning without interference.

The Inner Cabinet met to-day, presided over by Dr. Edouard Beneš, who only attends, being the President, when important matters are discussed.

The Sudeten German leaders deny that the final stage of negotiations for settlement of the differences with the Prague administration has been reached, as far as they are concerned.—Reuter.

STOP PRESS

Hopei Towns Recaptured By Guerillas

Hankow, July 20.
Loting, one of the most prosperous districts on the Luan River in Hopei Province, has been retaken by Chinese guerillas, according to a Tientsin message.

After regaining the city, the guerillas are now pressing on Changli on the Peiping-Liaoning Railway, 220 kilometres east of Tientsin.

Yihsein, important town on the Hsin-Yi branch line of the Peiping-Hankow Railway, was re-occupied by other Chinese guerilla units in a night attack on the same day. The station building and sections of rails were destroyed. The guerillas are pushing toward Lalaoh, 10 kilometres east of Yihsein.

Meanwhile, heavy fighting is reported to be proceeding between guerillas and Japanese troops on the Hopei-Shansi border.—Central News.

AFTER THE DAY OUT..

COMING home from an outing it is pleasant to find there's a salad for supper. Not merely a salad to take the place of a vegetable, but one that is a meal in itself.

You can make salads several hours before they are required. If kept in a cold, larger they will be ready to serve when wanted.

First, some hints on making salads: Never use a steel knife when dealing with salad ingredients. Sharpen them with your fingers or use a silver knife and fork.

All fresh vegetables such as lettuce, watercress, celery or chicory should be washed in very cold water to crisp them and thoroughly dried by a shaking in a clean cloth.

Remember to leave tomatoes for a minute or two in boiling water before peeling and slicing.

Salad dressing is made by mixing 4 tablespoons of olive oil with 1 teaspoonful of pepper, 1 teaspoonful of made mustard, and a little sugar, stirring well. Add 2 tablespoons of vinegar, one or two drops of lemon juice. Use very cold.

Mayonnaise or salad cream are universal favourites that give a piquant and nourishing dressing suitable for most salads. It is not necessary to make your own dressing, as Heinz offer both a salad cream and a mayonnaise. Serve the dressing in a sauce boat. There is absolutely no waste with these as I find they keep better than the dressing I make myself.

Cold fish and meat can be used up in a salad to make it sustaining.

With Cold Meat

Good to serve with cold meat. Ingredients: 1 young white lettuce, a few spring onions or chives, 1 lb. tomatoes, small ones preferably, a few red and white radishes, a sliced hard-boiled egg, mustard and cress. Arrange the washed, dried and shredded lettuce in a salad bowl, and mix in a few chopped onions or chives.

Add the tomatoes and the thinly sliced radishes, garnish with rings of hard-boiled egg and mustard and cress, carefully washed.

Salmon Mayonnaise

Here's an ever-popular favourite.

Ingredients: 1 lb. fresh or tinned salmon, 1 lettuce, 4 tomatoes, some sliced cucumber, 2 hard-boiled eggs, a few capers, mayonnaise, salt, pepper, and a little made mustard. Free the salmon

Sausage & Ham

Substantial and very tasty salad.

Ingredients: 1 lb. cooked ham, 1 lb. sausage, 1 lb. tomatoes, 1 lettuce, 2 bunches of watercress, salad dressing.

Skin and slice the cooked sausages, cut the ham into squares. Mix the lettuce (washed and shredded) with the dressing, sliced tomatoes and ham, and put all into a salad bowl. Arrange the sliced sausages on top, and make a thick border of carefully washed watercress. Serve with potato salad.

You can use other cold meats with sausage for this salad. Any cold chicken left over, for instance.

Potato Salad

Particularly good with cold meats such as pressed beef, tongue, ham or galantine.

The ingredients for potato salad are: Ten small new potatoes, two spring onions or chives, a tablespoonful of thick salad cream, finely chopped parsley, salt.

Scrub the potatoes, dry with a cloth, and bake them in the oven until cooked. Remove the skins, slice and arrange in a salad bowl with the finely chopped onions or chives.

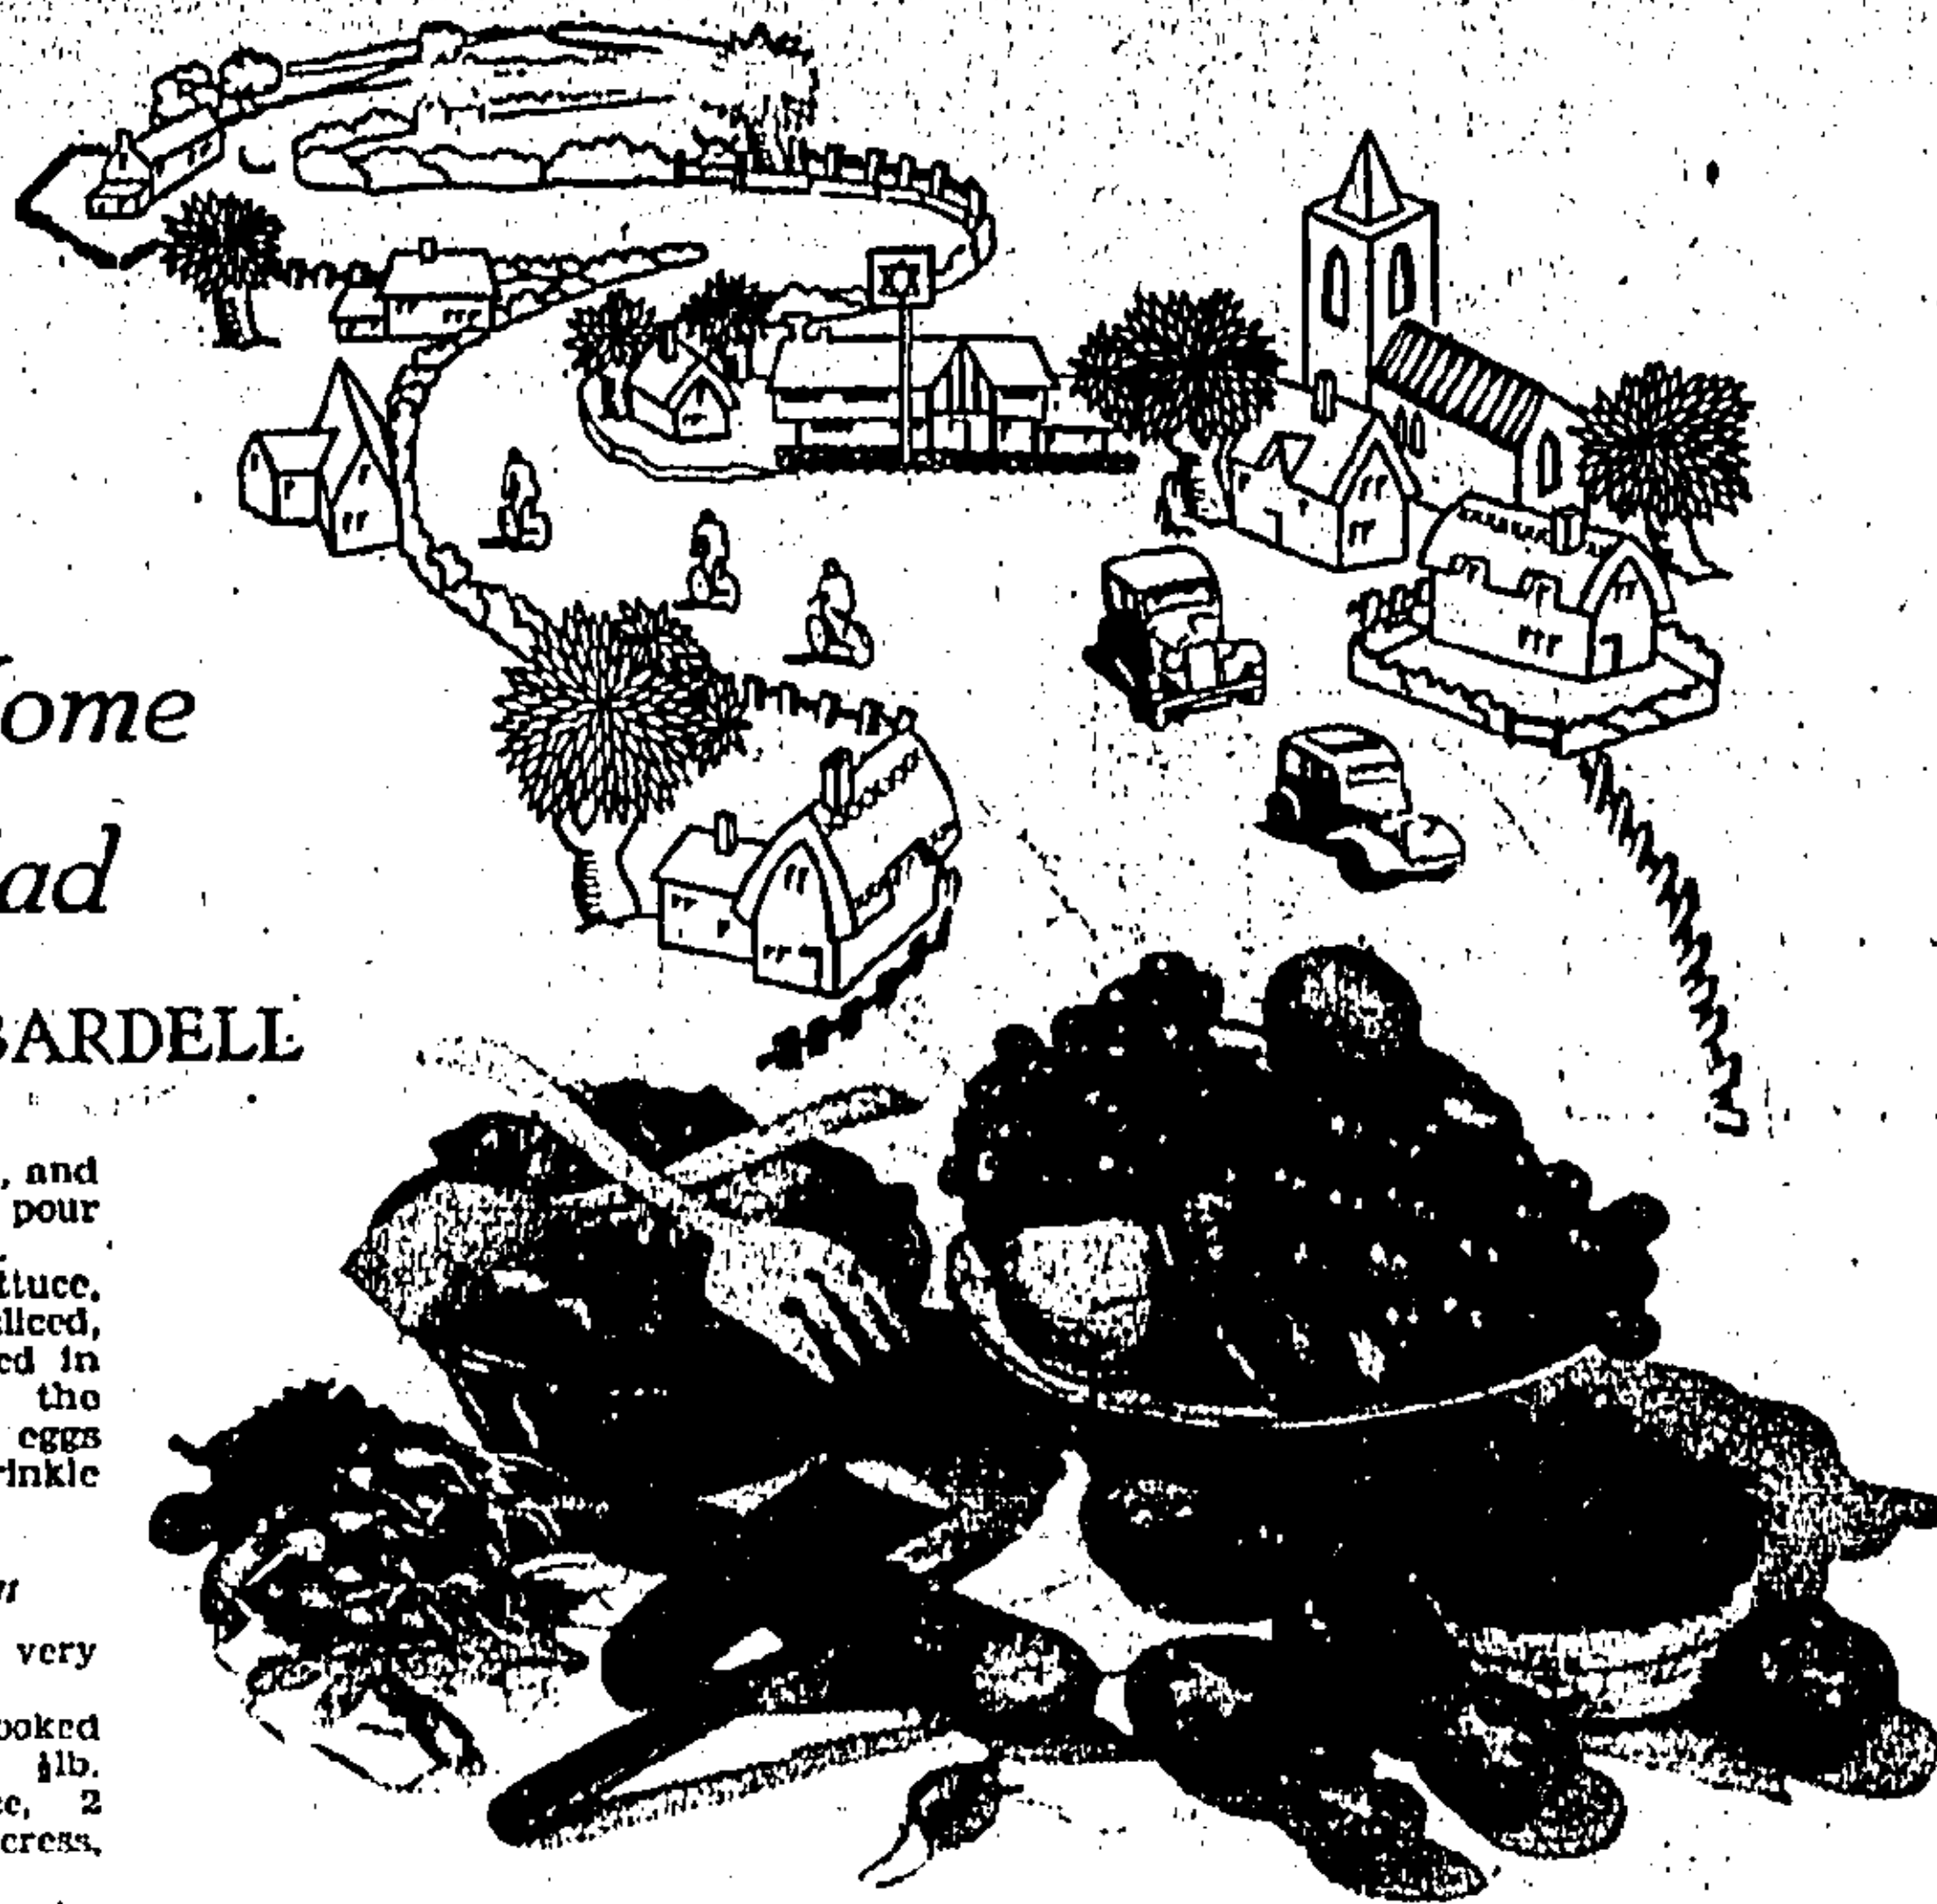

Sprinkle with salad cream and chopped parsley. Serve very cold.

Russian Salad

Unusual but economical dish.

Ingredients: Two carrots, one small turnip, a few slices of smoked salmon, three pickled walnuts, a few capers, cooked peas, beans, potatoes and sliced beetroot, mayonnaise.

Cut the vegetables into small dice or rounds, chop the capers and shred the salmon. Mix all the ingredients with mayonnaise, and arrange in a bowl. Garnish with rings of hard-boiled egg and sliced tomatoes.

Fruit and vegetables combine to make an appetising salad.

Beef & Beetroot

Quite a "square meal" in itself.

Ingredients: 1 lb. salt beef cut into squares, two sliced beetroot, four large potatoes, a small chopped onion, a little chopped parsley, salad dressing, a little made mustard, one lettuce.

Arrange the shredded lettuce on the bottom of a salad bowl, add the sliced potatoes sprinkled with chopped parsley, the chopped onion and squares of salt beef.

Sprinkle with the salad dressing in the centre of the bowl, and lightly arrange the sliced beetroot as a border, just before serving.

Shrimps & Rice

Perhaps you're wanting a new dish for high tea. Well, here it is.

Ingredients: 1 pint picked shrimps, 1 lettuce, 1 hard-boiled egg, 1 lb. Patna rice, salt, pepper, 3 tablespoonfuls of salad oil, 1 tablespoonful of vinegar, a little chopped parsley.

Cook the rice in fast-boiling water, slightly salted. When cooked, drain and dry, and allow to cool. Mix the rice, the chopped hard-boiled egg, and shrimps. Season, then pour the mixed oil and vinegar over. Line a

White Sewing Has A Revival

A LITTLE LESSON IN TUCKING

"WHITE SEWING" has returned. Now blouses are in fashion again. Women are exchanging tucking and openwork designs in the same way that knitting patterns are passed on.

Three effective and simple tucks are shown here.

Flat tucks are easiest. When the material allows, two threads should be drawn out, one where the fold of the tuck will be, and one where the stitching will come. Use a very fine silk and an even running stitch.

For full tucks draw out only one thread, where the stitching will be. Make the tuck in the same way with an even running stitch, then press down over the stitching, so that the sewing is in the centre at the back of each tuck.

Loop tucks are decorative. Begin in the same way as for the flat tuck, but decide first what sized loop will be most effective. Make the first one by taking a stitch over the edge of the tuck, draw it down, and make a back stitch, draw it down, and make a back stitch. Repeat the length of the material, making sure that each loop is the same size as the first one.

Edges of jabots are often a problem which pleat edging can solve, but whipping is also a good way if one wishes to make the entire blouse oneself. Fold the edge over between the thumb and first finger of the left hand. Slip the needle underneath the roll take a slanting stitch that does not go through the material that is against the finger, but goes under the roll and out at the edge.

The summer blouse sketched has a yoke suggested by tucks and a waterfall jabot.

Paris Revelling In Lovely Gowns

GOWNS for women to wear in honour of the Queen's visit are exceptionally attractive. Dress designers, it is clear, have been inspired by the importance of the occasion. Effective use is being made by leading houses of white tulle and white satin. Among the all-white tulle gowns are others, also in white, but of glamorous quality, sparkling with multi-coloured sequins and enriched with silver.

Black lace combined with net is in the picture as well as plain coloured silk organza in tones of dark petunia, breid purples and mauves. There are other gowns swathed with one jewel colour used next corallian rusts and browns. Two shades of jade green, for example, make a flat Vandyck pointed hemline to one gown while round the hips of another a light jade green appears in an ingeniously swathed movement which enhances the Empire-high fronted corsage.

Amethyst also makes a background for these two greens. An Aix "robe de style" is in black net with a quantity of flat superimposed tiers rising one above the other to show narrow borderings of straw in tones of aquamarine, amber, rose-diamond pink, coral, sapphire and thermoline green.

Other gowns, made on Grecian lines, show graceful folds girt round waist and hips by narrow burnished copper bands. One made entirely of moire ribbon in two colours, maroon shirred next black. The ribbon runs round the figure in characteristic flat-fronted Victorian style with small bows set one after the other down the slightly shaped movement at centre back. Ground lengths to mid wide and full skirts dominate trained lengths for these "occasion" gowns and there is an imperial air about one with full ground length skirt of the finest Indian gold patterned lame set from a tunic top of brown jersey cloth which swatches the hips and hangs at one side in graceful sash length.

WHO IS SHE?

How many times is that question asked when a beautiful woman enters a room? Immaculate from head to foot—styled to the minute—lustrous hair adding that youthful touch.

It has been said "A woman's crowning glory is her hair." That certainly holds true to-day. Hair styles of to-day depend on proper shampooing. A proper shampoo should leave the hair easy to manage—should not contain harsh alkali which dries the scalp—SHOULD CONTAIN NATURAL OILS which nourish the scalp. Avoid ordinary soaps.

Discriminating women everywhere use Mulsified because it leaves the hair soft and easy to manage—preserves its natural wave and colour—makes it sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre. Make your hair the envy of others with

"NO THERMOMETER OF HAPPINESS"

Pleasure Found In Misery

JUDGE ON VARYING DEGREES OF ENJOYING LIFE

"UNFORTUNATELY we have no thermometer of happiness," said Mr. Justice Langton when hearing cross-appeals, in the Admiralty Court recently raising the question of "expectation of life." The law on the point was, he said, extremely perplexing.

His lordship recalled a case in which Mr. Justice Charles had disagreed with a jury which had awarded £350 to one of two children injured in a perambulator, and gave £1,000 in respect of a child who was killed. Mr. Justice Charles said he thought the damages were excessive.

"Another court," said Mr. Justice Langton, "awarded a man of 70 £1,000, taking into account the added zest imparted to life by the fact that he played golf. He had not even been killed."

"Some men enjoy life most when they are most miserable. As one of the judges in the House of Lords said in a recent case, all this plunges one into too abstruse thinking."

Mr. Justice Langton's statement was prompted by cross-appeals from an award in the case of 22 claimants, relatives of nine Frenchmen drowned after a collision in the North Sea in 1936, between the French steamer Boree and the Spanish steamer Aizkoral Mendil.

The Spanish shipowners complained that the Registrar, influenced by decisions of the King's Bench judges, had made assessments higher than those to which nautical practitioners had been used.

His lordship said he supposed a judge might use his knowledge of the grades of French society. The widow of a cook had been given £1,000 and the widow of a second engineer £4,000, with allowances of several hundreds to her children.

BAR CUSTOM

The one had become the richest widow of a French cook in all France, and the other, at the age of 28, was a more affluent woman than her sister next door, who had not lost her husband.

"Are we to make it more valuable to lose a husband than to retain him?" he asked.

Mr. G. H. Wilmer, for the Frenchman, observed that the husband of the sister next door might go on to be promoted.

Mr. Justice Langton: There you are! You call an employer to say that the deceased was "in the running for £500 a year," and then you multiply by 10. When I went to the Bar we stuck to the facts and multiplied by three! (Laughter).

Later, when counsel quoted the Registrar's finding and submitted that he had erred in considering the matter statily, the judge asked:

"Did you say statily? (Laughter). I see he talks about the 'joy of living' when I should have thought the guiding word was 'expectation' and not 'enjoyment'."

"Enjoyment of life is a pure question of temperament. Men who have led the most miserable existences have enjoyed it infinitely more than men who have had a sheltered comfortable and untroubled career."

LIFE AT 44

Mr. O. L. Bateson, for the owners of the Spanish ship, suggested that a young man enjoyed and expected more of life than the elder, and the court must be specially generous to youth.

Mr. Justice Langton: I do not think a person enjoys life more at 23 than at 44, though he may expect to, and I have to get at the value of his expectation. It does not come down to an arithmetical sum, yet I cannot, in exploring the intangible, ignore arithmetic.

"Do I give damages for the loss of a life? I would not give much for the life of a man who has earnings of the liver!"

Mr. Bateson remarked that one judge had said that in considering the value of life one had to consider the debits and the credits.

Mr. Justice Langton: Yes, but what are they, in trying to find the one thing needful? I do not know whether the millionaire or the dustman had the best of it. There must be dustmen who regard life as a much better thing than does the faded and careworn millionaire who is disillusioned and blasé about everything.

"Am I to give more for the millionaire than for the dustman who has got hold of the better thing?" the judge continued. "It is really a question for an actuary. We ought to have actuarial tables adjusted for

Claiming the Spoils of Victory

While Japanese infantrymen line the sides of the narrow road in a protective fence, a Japanese tank is pictured above as it enters the shell-shattered gate of Mongher in Anhui province. The ancient Chinese pagoda on the gate's top has surrendered to modern death-dealing machines. Here is typified the spoils of victory. The Chinese defenders routed after a fierce battle, the victorious soldiers occupy the captured city to plunder and pillage in reward for their triumph.

Hay-fever Sufferers Have Found A Cure

THOUSANDS of hay-fever victims are getting relief by a new treatment—"ionisation." Trouble that has long baffled the doctors is yielding to a special kind of electrical current.

A tiny electrode is inserted into the patient's nostril, and an electrical current passes through the over-sensitive and congested membranes lining the inside of the nose.

No harsh cautery is involved. The inflamed tissues are soothed and restored.

"Ionisation" means that minute particles of electrical energy are set free in the affected tissues. Exactly how they bring about their healing effect is not fully understood yet.

The new treatment does not use X-rays.

At the Margaret-street Hospital in London, where the new treatment has been tried out, people who have suffered all their lives have gained complete relief.

various countries, to which we can refer as to a ready reckoner.

"One of the judges in the House of Lords said, blissfully, that something must be left to the common-sense of judges. Well, that is the common-sense of the matter as I see it."

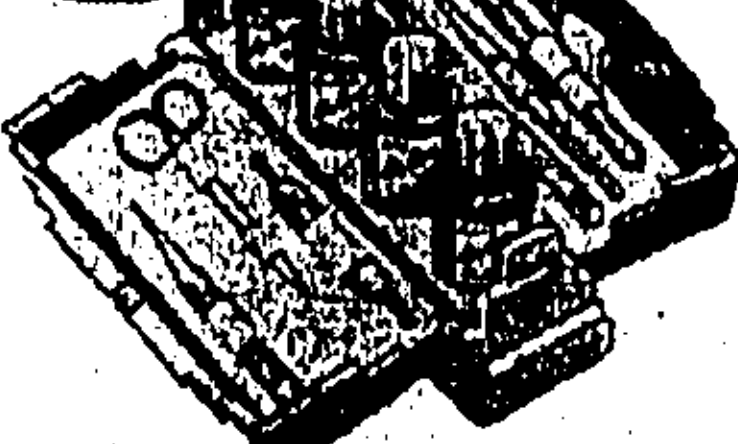

His lordship reserved judgment.

of which were edged with silver-fox. King George and President Lebrun entered the first car, Queen Elizabeth, Madame Lebrun and Vice-Admiral Devlin the second car, while nine other vehicles were necessary to accommodate the rest of the King's suite, who were accompanied by leading French civil and military officials.

The eighth car was reserved for the Canadian Minister and the South African and Euxine d'Afrique. The procession then started for the Quai d'Orsay, the landing car being surrounded by cavalry.

A crescendo of cheering rose as the cars moved slowly up Avenue Foch, heralded by a group of motor-cycle police, a squadron of Moroccan Spahis and the Republican Guard.

Thousands of Doves

The dense crowd broke into vociferous cheering along the whole route, along which, at intervals, thousands of doves brought from all parts of the country were released as a symbol of the character of Anglo-French interests.

The procession arrived at the Quai d'Orsay at 5.20 p.m. On arrival the King stepped from his car and shook hands with M. Bonnet, who was waiting on the steps, and stood with M. Lebrun while Queen Elizabeth descended from the second car. Madame Bonnet was then presented to the Queen.

President Lebrun mounted the steps with Queen George followed with Madame Lebrun lightly touching his arm.

Members of the British Embassy staff and their wives, together with Dominion representatives and their wives, arrived at 5.30 p.m., and were presented to Their Majesties by the British Ambassador.

Their Majesties left the Quai d'Orsay at 5.47 p.m. and drove in an open car to the Elysee to return President Lebrun's official call. They returned to their palace at 6.15 p.m., to rest and change for to-night's banquet at the Elysee.

Arrive at Elysee

Their Majesties arrived at the Elysee at 8 p.m., and the Band of the Republican Guard played the National Anthem as M. and Mme. Lebrun welcomed the Royal couple in the vestibule.

M. Lebrun presented the Ladies of his household and afterwards presented the guests. Presentations completed, President Lebrun and the Queen and King George and Mme. Lebrun led the way to the dining hall.

President Lebrun, in his speech after dinner, expressed the sincere joy of France at greeting the Sovereigns of a nation which was their friend, and expressed sorrow at the circumstances which led to the postponement of the journey.

During his speech, President Lebrun said: "Born of long tradition, confirmed by constant contact, thoughts and efforts consecrated by the same ideals of liberty and peace, the friendship which unites our two countries has acquired, in the course of its development, strength, which alone can be given by the same conception of human values, to face the different problems of national and international life in generous spirit and understanding."

"The Franco-British Entente was founded by your illustrious grandfather and gave under the glorious reign of King George V a measure of its efficacy during the dark period of the World War."

Great Obligations

"In the world's present state of moral anarchy, great obligations still lie on the two nations, both equally interested in human progress."

"The maintenance of peace within the limits of respect for international law permits neither an invitation regarding the task to be accomplished, nor a falling off of the daily effort."

"It is towards this that all our thoughts should most firmly be directed."

King Replies

His Majesty the King, speaking in French, said he was deeply touched by the welcome, and declared it to be impossible to recall a period during which relations between France and Great Britain had been more intimate.

The two countries were inspired by the same ideals, had the same attachment to democratic principles and the same belief in the benefits of individual liberty.

"We are proud of this political faith which we share with other great nations, but we fully realise that it carries with it heavy responsibilities, and in the period in which we live, it demands from us all, to a high degree, noble qualities of courage, wisdom and determination."

His Majesty emphasised that Anglo-French friendship was not directed against other Powers. On the contrary, their Governments ardently desired to find, by means of international agreements, a solution of the political problems threatening the peace of the world, and the economic difficulties that were restricting human well-being.

The actions of their Governments were thus directed towards the common goal of assuring happiness to the peoples of the world by means of true co-operation.

His Majesty concluded by saying that he was deeply touched by M. Lebrun's wishes for the greatness and prosperity of Great Britain and the overseas Dominions, and toasted the honour and glory of France.—Reuter.

HANKOW SUFFERS HEAVILY

Casualties Expected Above 1,000

Hankow, July 19. The populace here was subjected to the same nerve-racking experiences which their countrymen in the South had gone through when Japanese aeroplanes carried out the most intensive bombings which Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang had ever witnessed since the commencement of hostilities. It is feared that casualties will be high. The heaviest toll is believed to be in the area near the Hankow-Hanyang border, where a bomb made a direct hit on a Chinese theatre used as an air defence shelter. Five hundred persons inside the theatre were trapped and the place was burning like an inferno. Many victims were reduced to ashes.

Reuters' correspondent visited the Sun Li Men Street where two bombs landed in a poor quarter, resulting so far in six persons being killed. The correspondent saw the Red Swastika Society workers feverishly carrying away the wounded victims to hospitals.—Reuters.

DAMAGE TO LIBRARY

Hankow, July 19. The United Press correspondent went out to inspect the Wuchang bombed areas and found little signs of blood. He saw one corpse. Everybody said: "Nobody was hurt here. Go over there where many were killed." The correspondent went there, where the people said the same thing. He saw many houses destroyed, but apparently the inhabitants had fled to the dugouts. A bomb landed on the front side of the Hupeh Provincial Library, de-evidence. Confronted with these facts, Mr. Sterling decided to use the simple affirmation, declaring that by such means, it would be more likely to secure truth from a witness than all the pseudo-attempts to comply with native customs, and the form initiated by Mr. Sterling continues to the present day.

HON. PAUL IVY STERLING

Transferred To Ceylon

Apart from the long controversy over the form of oath to be administered to Chinese witnesses, there was much evidence to show that the Supreme Court was not functioning as well as it had been originally hoped, and the Attorney-General was widely blamed by his contemporaries on account of what was alleged to be glaring inefficiency. Indeed, whether this indictment is entirely true or not cannot be said, but at least, as was remarked, at the time, "there were two Police Magistrates and an Attorney-General, all well paid and certainly not over-worked, and yet, Session after Session, cases were set down for trial which, even without the handling of prisoners' counsel, fell to pieces by their own inherent weakness, and through some legal flaw, which it was said an attorney's apprentice at Home would be ashamed to have overlooked."

Consequently, in view of this state of affairs, when the news of the appointment of Mr. Sterling to a Puisne Judgeship in Ceylon was received in the Colony in late October 1855, few, if any, of the community showed signs of regret. In fact, the local opinion of him was that he was tolerated but not liked, nor "generally esteemed for forensic powers." The press announcement of the day was succinct in its summary: "Both the learned gentleman and the community were congratulated on his removal to a newer and richer field of inaction, and as for the Ceylon folks, in the words of Burns: 'We wish them luck o' the prize man.'"

The Hon. Mr. Sterling spent some eight years in his new post, when he retired on a pension. Died at Southsea, Hampshire, August 23, 1879, aged 75 years.

BRITISH VESSEL ATTACKED

Raids By Planes In Valencia Harbour

Valencia, July 19. Another British steamer was bombed to-day, when five insurgent planes attacked it in Valencia Harbour, setting the ship on fire.

Two non-intervention officers were aboard, one Dutch and one Italian. They escaped injury and none of the crew was hurt.

Eight dockhands, however, were killed. Barcelona was also raided and the Cathedral slightly damaged.—Reuters Bulletin.

FASCISM MARCHES

Trouble appears to be in the making on two frontiers, and there may or may not be some connection between them. Any one who has ever read anything of the old system of imperial tactics—and one does not have to go beyond recent history—may suspect that the German press talk of Czecho-Slovakian military activity and the Japanese reports of an invasion of Manchukuoan territory by the Soviet are inter-related. It has long been an accepted rule of the game of imperial conquest to start the actual campaign by forcing "an incident" upon the intended victim, according to authorities on this subject. Garratt, in his "Mussolini's Roman Empire", recalls the classic example of Walwal as a proof that what the Italians learned of tactics long foregone by rivals in the imperial field was put to good use against the unfortunate Negus. Probably he is not wrong. The whole of Italy's campaign was a series of well-thought-out diplomatic and finally practical military moves calculated to avoid suspicion that there was any real, premeditated evil intended against a harmless state—harmless, in spite of the allegation that it still was a stronghold of slavery. There may be a parallel in the present German outcry against Czecho-Slovakian military preparations. At most, there seems little foundation for the German excitement. And in any event what could the Czechs be planning that in any way menaces Germany or her friends? Germany can have no more to fear from the Czechs than Italy had to fear from Ethiopia.

And now comes this business on the Manchukuoan frontier. Is it possible that Germany foresaw it? It seems incredible; but if we are to accept the argument that the press campaign directed against the Czechs is the first step in a more serious movement, then it must be accepted as a possibility that some such preoccupation for Russia was in prospect. For it has been Germany's consistent policy to wait upon propitious circumstances before launching her several political adventures of the last few years. And her

First Attorney-General Of Hongkong

By T. PAUL GREGORY

In any Crown Colony, there are bound to be amongst the host of Civil Servants sent out over a long period of years, men of outstanding talent as well as those of more mediocre ability. Of the latter type, one could fairly class the first Attorney-General of Hongkong. He was the Hon. Paul Ivy Sterling, and if we are to believe the impartial judgments of history, his sojourn here of nearly eleven years was largely marked by groping efforts at reconciling the apparent novelty of English law and court procedure to that of the ancient customs and prejudices of the Colony's Chinese.

The Hon. Paul Ivy Sterling was born in Queen's County, Ireland in the year 1804. He was the eldest son of the Rev. Joseph Sterling, a rector of a country parish. His father's position, however, enabled him to secure an excellent education, and he graduated at Trinity College, Dublin, and, subsequently, becoming interested in the study of the law, he entered King's Inn for that purpose. He was called to the Irish Bar during the Michaelmas Term in 1829, and shortly afterwards proceeded to London, where he undertook a course of further study at Gray's Inn. He was now a full-fledged barrister so to speak, and we find that from his twenty-sixth to his thirty-ninth year he engaged in an extensive private practice. In fact, his reputation became so great that it was patent he would come to the notice of the Home Government who were then casting about for eminent legal talent to go to the Far East in the capacity of a quorum for the newly organised Court in Hongkong.

Whether Mr. Sterling's appointment as Attorney-General of this Colony was influenced by the decision of Judge John Walter Hulme, the newly nominated Chief Justice, we do not know, but at least we do know from the old chronicles of Hongkong that great things were expected of him. His arrival here on July 28, 1844 was anxiously awaited, and the public were confident that he would further enhance the splendid reputation he had already earned at Home. The reception afforded him on his arrival was noteworthy, and a few days afterwards he was duly gazetted as a member of the Executive Council of the then Governor, Sir Francis Davis. In fact, everything was

Great Things Expected

Most of those early Criminal Sessions in the Colony were marked by examples of glaring inefficiency, and it was a wonder how justice could have been administered at all. First, there was the difficulty of securing qualified interpreters, and the Court was confronted with an ever rising series of predicaments which would impair the deliberations of even a Solon. Most of this was due to the awkward situation arising from administering the oath to witnesses in the Court. The Chinese were, of course, entirely ignorant of English procedure, and there were many ludicrous attempts to adopt some expedient which would conform to native customs. Every one seems to have had a different opinion, and there were unseemly scenes in the Court when the Jury would disagree with the Attorney-General as to the mode to be followed. The Chinese themselves gave no hint as to how they wanted to be sworn in, and all efforts at securing the qualified information seemed fruitless. Certain of the settlers, however, had witnessed a form of oath common amongst Chinese pirates and gangsters, that is, of cutting off the head of a cock before a sort of shrine on which were arranged the inevitable concomitants of Chinese worship—the scarlet ceremonial candles and the sticks of fragrant incense. This was suggested and actually tried for a time in the first Criminal Sessions. At length, however, when it was found out by bitter experience that even this complicated system of securing the veracity of a witness's oath was lacking in the desired results, it was abolished, and another form almost as absurd adopted in its stead.

This was the burning of a sheet of yellow paper about six by eight inches in size in the statesmen have admitted this to be the case. There is another possibility, of course: that Japan, made aware of "something stirring" on the Czecho-German border is now ready to challenge the Russians, hoping for their concern at the Czech situation—which may very easily develop now at the same rate of speed as the Manchukuo incident—to prevent their taking anything but an apologetic attitude in the Far East.

Conjecture, it may be said, is no argument. No, indeed. But a certain amount of it, mixed with a little understanding of the policies of the nations and the probable trend of their ambitions makes possible a fairly accurate prediction as to the manner of their progress. The Italians have conquered Ethiopia. The Spanish situation is rapidly being liquidated. The Japanese have started a war of conquest in China. Germany has seized Austria. Fascism is on the march; and a wise man will watch for the place where the boots of its armies next may tread.

all set for a legal career of sur- passing eminence, and on October 1, the Supreme Court was formally opened with all the solemnity and ceremony befitting such an occasion. It was in reality a gala event, and the whole Colony turned out en masse to witness the seating of the dignitaries on the Bench. To the Chinese inhabitants, too, the event was a picturesque one and the sight of the Chief Justice, Mr. Hulme, the Attorney-General, Mr. Sterling and the full Bar in their robes and wigs was an impressive sight.

Although, the Court started off with favourable aplomb, there was still a great deal to be done, and it was over a decade before the legal administration of the Colony commenced to function with any of the efficiency that it so commendably displays to-day. In fact, although the Chief Justice was apparently the right man for his position, the man chosen for the post of Attorney-General soon proved to be rather a disappointment. Mr. Sterling, in short, seemed to lack the pioneer spirit necessary to persevere in a newly opened Colony, and the vastly different environment prevailing in the East, proved to be an almost unsurmountable obstacle.

Glaring Inefficiency

Court room by the witness being sworn in. On this paper were written or (supposed to be written) various details, such as the date, the name of the witness, etc. The Chinese, however, when called upon to swear by this means could scarcely restrain their mirth, and it was soon found that the evidence elicited under such circumstances was invariably as devoid of truth as if the witness had not been sworn in at all. This state of affairs went on for a number of years, until at length, a really competent interpreter was hired at a salary of £150 per annum. This was Mr. Caldwell, who was soon to figure extensively in the history of the Colony at this period.

He was certainly the only man then in the Colony who actually knew the Chinese mentality and could speak the language as well as the people themselves. When he was asked by the Attorney-General to explain why the system of swearing in witnesses by burning a sheet of yellow paper was such a patent failure, he was alleged to have laughed, and remarked with evident amusement that for one thing the procedure was almost unheard of amongst the Chinese. Furthermore, if it were to be valid, the paper must bear the exact hour of the person's birth, his name in full, and various minutiae which could only be secured with the fullest co-operation of the witness, which obviously under the existing circumstances was a practical impossibility.

Questioned further as to how the Chinese mandarins managed to secure impartial evidence, if no such oaths as were tried in the Supreme Court were employed, Caldwell stated that the Chinese yamens of the day depended on torture to extract truthful

"Don't let it upset you, Mrs. Snodgrass—I'll just put it on your milk bill."

CATS THAT GO WILD DON'T LAST LONG . . .

WALKING up the steep field-edge to Hanghigh Wood, I saw a large cat sitting at the edge of the trees. Immediately I stood still.

It saw me a moment afterwards; gave a swift, crouching stare, turned belly-low, was gone among the nettles. Its face was broad, its whiskers long, its eyes were yellow with intense, concentrated scrutiny. It was wild.

A tame cat has some hours or periods of relaxation, when its eyes can dream, or unfocus from the movements of life about it. The muscles of its eyes are slack; those of a cat whose life is always lived on the sharp edges of sight and sound.

Had the cat been tame, it would have stared at me, probably sitting up. Had it been half-wild, it would have crouched, but would have remained "frozen" until I moved again. But this cat, all of its senses super-sharp in witness, did not wait for me to take the initiative. It vanished.

HOW came it wild? I think I can truly imagine its history. There are many cats in English woods returned to wildness.

Indeed, there are two generations of cats being prepared for wildness on my farm now.

At the moment, they are there to catch rats. At least, two of the smaller cats remain; the third, our young friend Tommy-Tommy, has already gone.

All that is left of Tommy-Tommy (as the children named him) is his plaintive, going-wild meow. This sad little cry was imitated by the starlings in the trees over the chalk quarry, and now is part of their communal spring song.

But Tommy-Tommy no longer walks to greet me, tail in air and a twitch, uttering his reproachful where-have-you-been meow, before turning over on his head and rolling on his back—a trick taught him in kittenhood by old Jimmy, who first brought Tommy-Tommy to be a rat-catcher in the corn barn.

TOMMY-TOMMY was a shy, swift, fleeing young cat when I first saw him. He and another lived in the turnip house, from which they visited the bullock yards, the pigs' pens, the granary, hay-barn, cornbarn, stables, in a regular round. First they caught mice; then small rats, which they killed and ate quickly.

When we came to live in the granary, last autumn, Tommy-Tommy used to visit us, slinking through a hole in the flapping door, huskily meowing, and ready to flee like a shadow at the slightest quick movement.

After a week he became used to human movements, and even scatted on the mat by the stove; although he was liable at any moment to run away. After another week he was sleek and used to us. He stayed in at night, although always during the morning he brought young rats and laid them at my feet. I am sure this was gratitude.

BUT at Christmas we left for the cottages, which were more or less (chiefly less) ready. Tommy-Tommy was left behind to kill the rats. He waited for us, day after day, by the closed granary door. He sat with the chickens every afternoon; but un- easily.

It was then that those greasy, proletarian, oil-hued treepot tinpan alleycats, the starlings, ever on the listen for new sounds and noises (like the commercial dance songsters, they have little music of their own, beyond clucking or peevish noises), learned the plaintive, nostalgic mew which we will hear long after Tommy-Tommy is dead.

For he is doomed. He will grow like the old wild cat I saw for an instant on the edge of Hanghigh Wood. He is already halfway to the complete shyness of the wild.

I SAW Tommy-Tommy the one evening; and he saw me. He stared, crouching by a bramble bush, and remained staring while I called his name. His mouth opened but no sound came.

As I walked towards him he slid under the bush, and when I peered I could not see him. Man and animal were finally covered.

He is doomed. He has already forgotten the taste of rats. He hunts rabbits. The half-impersonal skill of rat-killing has changed to the silent fury of full-power killing. That feeling is dulled, or transmuted, by civilisation.

A cat returned wild will pursue young game birds, and it is the law of the wild that it is a good life while it lasts.

A sudden charge of shot . . . and all that will remain of Tommy-Tommy will be a woodland patch of wild violets larger than the others; a pair of worn gloves for tractor driving; a plaintive cadence from the starlings in the trees above the chalk quarry.

ARMED ROBBERS DEFIED WITH MONEY BAGS

Men They Tried To Rob of £1,000 Were Athletes

CAR bandits had an unpleasant shock when, on Putney Bridge (London, S.W.) they attacked and tried to rob two messengers of wage money, totalling £1,000, which they were carrying in two bags.

The messengers, both athletes, were: Mr. James McNeish Hamilton, an amateur boxer, of Hassocks Road, Streatham; Mr. Edwin Becker, a track rider, of Parthenia Road, Fulham.

There were two bandits, one armed with a revolver and the other with a length of cable, but they got such a reception from their intended victims that they were soon running their hardest for their car.

In this they drove off. The car was later found abandoned in a side street.

Hamilton and Becker were carrying the money from the bank to the offices of their employers, Messrs. Philip and Tracy, in High Street, Fulham.

Hamilton, a sturdy man of 23, told a reporter that after leaving the bank in Putney High Street he and Becker walked across Putney Bridge towards their firm's premises.

"COME HERE, SONNY"

"The first we knew that anything was wrong," he said, "was when the two men came up suddenly from behind."

"One of them, a tall thin man, dressed in a navy blue suit and light cap and wearing dark sunglasses, got hold of my arm and said: 'Come here, sonny' or something like that."

"I snatched myself away and turned round quickly, swinging the heavy bag containing the money at him."

"The man had in his hand what appeared to be a long roll of brown paper and he tried to hit me with it."

"I swung the bag again and kept him away. I think it must have struck his hand because whatever he was holding fell to the pavement."

"KNOCKED GUN AWAY"

"The other man, of whom I got only a glimpse, tackled my colleague, Becker."

"He flourished a revolver in his face, and said something about 'drop that bag'."

"Becker knocked the gun away and turning quickly, ran back over the bridge, clutching the bag, and told a policeman on point duty what had happened."

AUTOMATIC REPORTS FROM 9 MILES UP

ABOUT 1,500 scientists from all parts of Great Britain were welcomed at Teddington, Middlesex, last week by Sir William Bragg, President of the Royal Society, for the annual inspection of the National Physical Laboratory.

They filed into the hall, in which is housed the 1,000,000-volt electrical plant. Each shook hands with Sir William, Lord Rayleigh, chairman of the Executive Committee, and Dr. W. L. Bragg, Director of the Laboratory.

After the reception there was a demonstration in the grounds of the reception of automatic messages from meteorological balloons.

A balloon was released to which a short-wave transmitter was attached. This sends out two modulated notes indicating either pressure or temperature. It works on a wave-length of 8½ metres.

An official explained that the balloon would probably travel 100 miles. When it bursts the transmitter floats to earth on a parachute. Attached is a card with instructions in English and French for forwarding information of its discovery. There is a 5s. reward for the finder.

REDUCING TUBE NOISE

A tour of the laboratory showed how science is dealing with everyday problems.

A double-wall room has been built from which motor-cycle noise is measured. A motor-cycle engine is run inside the room, with the silencer projecting through a hole in the wall. The sound emitted is picked up by a microphone connected to measuring instruments in another room.

Similar tests being made concern the silencing of aircraft, the noise of London tube trains, and the efficiency of air-raid warning devices.

Other aspects of the laboratory's work include:

Ships.—Tests on 68 vessels were carried out in 1937. The fuel consumption of four was reduced by more than 20 per cent.

Physics.—More than £1,000,000 worth of radium was tested at the laboratory during the year. Members of the staff visited hospitals to find lost radium. It is detected by an apparatus which emits a click-

Double Wedding for Screen Pair

It was double or nothing for Jon Hall, film star, and his bride, Frances Langford, screen songstress, pictured above in loving embrace. After surprising friends with an elopement to Prescott, Ariz., Jon remembered that he'd named the wrong town as his birthplace, so the newlyweds celebrated with a second ceremony in Hollywood. Now they're planning a honeymoon in Hall's native Tahiti.

Strikers Trap Trainer's Wife

MRS. J. W. BISGOOD, wife of a well-known Aston Tirrard (Berkshire) trainer, was held up in her car recently by a number of men, believed to be stable lads taking part in a strike.

She was driving to Didcot Station to see the racehorse Over Coat, leave for Manchester when the men, standing in a line across the road, pulled open the car doors and tried to take out the luggage for the horse, which was in a kitbag at the back.

They also attempted to drag Mrs. Bisgood from the driving seat, but she managed to put the car in gear and drive off. A hail of stones followed. One struck her on the face.

A stable boy had taken the racehorse across the fields to the station, so he missed the men and caught the train for Manchester.

"I was going along a lonely road when I heard a shrill whistle. It was evidently a signal, as when I got round a bend I saw about eight men stretched across the road."

"They all looked like stable lads, except one, a big dark man, I did not recognise any of them. I don't think they were local men."

"When I stopped the car they immediately came round and tried to pull out the kitbag and the horse's blankets. One tried to pull me out too, but I wasn't having that."

KNOCKED ONE DOWN

"They shouted a good deal at me, and said they intended to stop Over Coat from racing."

"During all this the dog I had with me fell out of the car. I shouted to him to jump in again, and drove off without troubling to shut the doors. As I did so I knocked down one of the men."

"Since the strike began there have been one or two incidents in the district, and we have received one or two threats but I never thought they would attack a woman."

ing sound. Radium has often been found in dustbins, ashes, and used dressings.

Metrology.—All the taximeters in London, some 20,000 are tested each year for the Commissioner of Police.

Engineering.—Models to test wind pressure include one of a section of London.

EMPIRE NEWS

INDIAN MINISTER'S RESIGNATION

Bombay. The resignation of Mr. Yunus Shaheed, Minister of Justice for the Central Provinces, has been accepted.

The Minister's action is the sequel to the crisis which arose following the release by Mr. Shaheed, without it, it is stated, consulting his Ministerial colleagues, of a prisoner sentenced to three years' rigorous imprisonment for rape.

The released man, who was prominent in social and official circles, at once left Nagpur for an Indian State, where he was appointed to a post in the Education Department.

Public attention led to an inquiry being held by the Executive of Congress, whose findings went against Mr. Shaheed.

Cawnpore Strikes.—The general strike situation in Cawnpore is unchanged. A sixth of the population is without work and both employers and employees are determined to hold out. Meanwhile, the Government is adopting a neutral attitude. The trouble has arisen over the rejection by the Employers' Association of the Labour Inquiry Committee's report recommending an increase in wages to textile workers.

Textile Talks May Fail.—Intense disappointment is felt at the reported failure of the textile trade talks in Simla between the Lancashire delegates and non-official Indian advisers. The chances of an Anglo-Indian agreement are not at the moment promising. Hope is now centred in the efforts of Sir Muhammad Zafrul Haq, a member of the Government of India, who is determined to "secure results" before the Lancashire delegation returns to England.

SOUTH AFRICA

UNIVERSITY'S AWARD FOR SAVING FAUNA

Cape Town. Mr. P. G. W. Grobler, Minister for Native Affairs, recently received the Hon. Degree of Doctor of Law at Potchefstroom University, in recognition of his work in protecting the fauna of South Africa.

Harbour Improvement.—Mr. T. Water, High Commissioner in London, in a letter to the Mayor of Cape Town, congratulating him on the start of the harbour development scheme, said that when the work was done Cape Town would be among the three loveliest ports in the Southern Hemisphere.

Marking Pottery.—Mr. Maddock, a Staffordshire pottery manufacturer on a visit to South Africa, has suggested legislation in the Union requiring all imported manufactured articles to be marked with the country of origin.

CANADA

NEW MINISTER TO BELGIUM

Ottawa. Lt.-Col. G. P. Vanier, Secretary to the Office of the High Commissioner for Canada in London, will probably be appointed to the new post of Canadian Minister to Belgium and the Netherlands.

Col. Vanier, who is in his 50th year, served in the war as a member of the Canadian delegation to the London Naval Conference, and Technical Adviser to the Canadian delegation to the League Assembly in 1936. He was A.D.C. to Viscount Byng, when Governor-General of Canada.

Britain and World Peace.—Mr. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister, speaking at a banquet, approved Britain's foreign policy, which, he said, aimed above all else at seeking to keep the peace of Europe and the world.

Social Credit Expert.—The British Social Credit expert, Mr. George F. Powell, who was sentenced to six months' imprisonment for defamatory libel in November and released on parole last month, is leaving for England. When asked if he expected to return to Canada, he said: "That is a matter for the Alberta Government and the Canadian Government to decide."

KENYA

INQUIRY INTO CIVIL SERVICE

Nairobi. As a result of long-standing grievances regarding conditions of the locally recruited Civil Service, the Governor, Air Chief Marshal Sir Henry Brooke-Popham, has appointed a committee to examine present terms and conditions of employment and make recommendations.

The Attorney-General is chairman of the committee.

Pardoned Soldier Home With Mother

A young man was in London last month attending a family reunion with his mother and two brothers whom he thought he would never see again.

He is Reginald Thurston, aged 25, ex-foreign legionnaire, and his mother, Mrs. Pearson, a widow, of Devonshire-avenue, Southsea, whose devotion to him won the sympathy of the President of France and moved him from a living death.

After a sensational trial which branded him as "The Phantom," a mysterious desert raider who terrorised a Foreign Legion camp, thieving and shooting at legionnaires, he sat in his cell in the military prison at Fez, Morocco, and wrote to England:

"My dear Ma.—I shall never come home again. I have been sentenced to life."

"I swore I would not rest until his innocence was proved," his mother told a reporter.

"My husband died in February, a week before the British Ambassador presented the appeal."

"It was a frame-up," said Thurston, speaking of the ordeal that led to him being sentenced to spend his life in a Moroccan military prison. "I was in bed when the shooting happened, but the prosecution would not admit their mistake."

"I was in prison 10 months before the trial," he explained, "and I served nearly a year before getting my pardon."

Thurston's mother wants to set him up in business.

"I want to deny the rumour that I am going to be married," said Thurston. "That's not true."

Express Saved By 2 Minutes

AS their good train piled up on the main line at Abington, Lanarkshire, last week, a driver and his fireman jumped down, broke into a signal cabin and saved the Glasgow-Manchester express—by two minutes.

An axle broke in the middle of the goods train as it was passing the Wandmill signal box.

Twenty-six wagons shot off the lines, wrecking both of rails.

Wandmill signal box is only open at night. During the day its signals are set at "clear."

Realising that the express, crowded with week-enders and holiday-makers, was near, the driver and fireman smashed in the door of the signal cabin and set the signals at danger. The express stopped with only a few yards to spare.

When the express reached Manchester just before midnight—4½ hours late—a graphic story of the mishap was told by a passenger, Mrs. W. S. Harris, of Wilmshurst.

"The engine driver of the goods train," she said, "ran out on to the line laying fog signals. But for his action we should have crashed into the wreckage."

"The express, which was doing 65 miles an hour, pulled up only a train's length from the wrecked wagons."

"We waited two hours on the line before we were moved back to Glasgow and transferred to a south-bound line via Kilmarnock and Dumfries."

This railway arranged special services for the stranded passengers.

FOOT ITCH Athlete's Foot

According to the Government Health Bulletin No. E-29, at least 50% of the adult population of the United States are being attacked by the disease known as Athlete's Foot.

Usually the disease starts between the toes. Little watery blisters form, and the skin cracks and peels. After a while, the itching becomes intense, and you feel as though you would like to scratch off all the skin.

BEWARE OF IT SPREADING

Often the disease travels all over the bottom of the feet. The soles of your feet become red and swollen. The skin also cracks and peels, and the itching becomes worse and worse.

Get rid of this disease as quickly as possible, because it is very contagious and it may go to your hands or even to the under arm or crotch of the legs.

Most people who have Athlete's Foot have tried all kinds of remedies to cure it without success. Ordinary germicides, antiseptics, salve or ointments seldom do any good.

HERE'S HOW TO TREAT IT

The germ that causes the disease is known as Tinea Trichophyton. It buries itself deep in the tissues of the skin and is very hard to kill. A test made shows it takes 15 minutes of boiling to kill the germ; so you can see why ordinary remedies are unsuccessful.

H. F. was developed solely for the purpose of treating Athlete's Foot. It is a liquid that penetrates and dries quickly. You just paint the affected parts. It peels off the tissue of the skin where the germ breeds.

ITCHING STOPS IMMEDIATELY

As soon as you apply H. F. you will find that the itching is immediately relieved. You should paint the infected parts with H. F. night and morning until your feet are well. Usually this takes from three to ten days, although in severe cases it may take longer or in mild cases less time.

H. F. will leave the skin soft and smooth. You will marvel at the quick way it brings you relief; especially if you are one of those who have tried for years to get rid of Athlete's Foot without success.

After using H.F.

DON BRADMAN COMPLETES 2,000 RUNS FOR SEASON

MAKES SPLENDID KNOCK OF 144 AGAINST NOTTS

DOUBLE CENTURIES BY HAMMOND, WASHBROOK

London, July 19.

Don Bradman, the Australian cricket captain, completed his 2,000 runs for the present tour in England to-day by hitting up 144 against Notts at Nottingham and helped the tourists to beat their hosts by 412 runs.

Bradman displayed some wonderful off-driving in his innings, which lasted 170 minutes, and hit up a six and 17 fours.

A. L. Hassett gave his skipper splendid support with a knock of 124 and helped to put on 216 runs in 140 minutes. Hassett played a chanceless innings, being brilliant in his driving and leg-shots. His best scoring strokes were a six and 15 fours.

In the first innings, Australia scored 242 and in reply Notts made 147. Batting again, Australia declared at 453 for four wickets, the chief scorers being Bradman and Hassett.

Notts failed again at bat, being all out for 137, of which J. Hardstaff, who has been selected for the Fourth Test at Leeds, made 67 not out. L.O.B. Fleetwood-Smith was in one of his good moods and sent back five Notts batsmen for 39 runs.

ESSEX v. SUSSEX

At Colchester, Essex defeated Sussex by an innings and 13 runs.

Sussex scored 124 (Ray Smith 5 for 30) and 398, while Essex, in their only innings, declared at 535 for six wickets, of which Taylor made 193 and T. N. Pearce 121 not out.

NORTHANTS v. HAMPSHIRE

At Northampton, Northants took points on first innings from Hampshire.

Hampshire scored only 97 in their first innings (Partridge 5 for 29 and Buswell 4 for 41) and 301 for nine wickets declared in the second, while Northants put up 190 and 133 for 6.

WARWICK v. WORCESTER

At Birmingham, Warwickshire took points on first innings from Worcestershire.

Worcester totalled 132 (Mayer 4 for 30) and 198 (Holmes 5 for 70), and Warwick replied with 190 for seven wickets declared.

DERBY v. LEICESTER

At Derby, Leicestershire beat Derbyshire on first innings.

Derby hit up 149 in their first innings, Smith taking five wickets for 48 runs. Leicestershire, in reply, declared at 155 for eight wickets.

Going in again, Derby declared at 200 for eight wickets, and Leicestershire had made 53 for four wickets when stumps were drawn.

GLOUCESTER v. LANCASHIRE

Splendid Batting by Washbrook of Lancashire and Walter Hammond of Gloucester in this match played at Bristol. Each man hit up a double century, and Gloucester took points on first innings.

Leading Performers

The following were the leading performers in the Cricket programme just completed in England:

Batting

W. R. Hammond (Gloucester) v. Lancashire	271
Washbrook (Lancashire) v. Gloucester	219
Taylor (Essex) v. Sussex	193
Don Bradman (Australians) v. Notts	144
A. L. Hassett (Australians) v. Notts	124
T. N. Pearce (Essex) v. Sussex	121
Fagg (Kent) v. Surrey	91
Hardstaff (Notts) v. Australians	97
Denotes not out.

Bowling

Partridge (Northants) v. Hampshire	5 for 29
Ray Smith (Essex) v. Sussex	5 for 38
L. O.B. Fleetwood-Smith (Australians) v. Notts	5 for 39
Smith (Leicestershire) v. Derby	5 for 48
Holmes (Warwickshire) v. Leicestershire	5 for 76
Mayer (Warwickshire) v. Leicestershire	4 for 30
Buswell (Northants) v. Hampshire	4 for 41

Lancashire declared their first innings at 420 for nine wickets, Washbrook contributing 219 not out. Gloucester did even better than that with 531, due mainly to the effort of Hammond who knocked up 271.

In the second innings, Lancashire had scored 105 for one wicket at close of play.

SURREY v. KENT

At the Oval, Surrey defeated Kent by six wickets.

To Kent's first innings total of 337, A. Fagg, who hit up a double century in each innings against Essex in the match before, contributed 91. In the second knock, Kent scored 202.

Surrey replied with 333 and 210 for four wickets.—Reuter.

C.M. Silva Causes First Serious Bowls Upset

ELIMINATES HOLDER OF OPEN SINGLES TITLE OF COLONY

U. M. Omar Outplayed By Young Recreio "Hope"

"This is the way to come in!" seems to be what R. Fitches of the Hongkong F.C. is telling his skip, J. Skinner, but nevertheless the rink lost to A. H. Basto's four by eight shots. This picture was taken at Happy Valley on Saturday in the Third Division bowls match between the Hongkong F.C. and the Kowloon Tong Club.—Pictorial News.

The first real sensation of the 1938 bowls championships was registered on the Kowloon B.G.C. green yesterday when U. M. Omar, holder of the singles title and considered one of the most consistent players in the Colony, was eliminated from the tournament in the first round by C. M. Silva, a comparative newcomer to the game.

"Player-Writer" System To Be Attacked

London, June 30. Because of flagrant breaches of rules during the current Wimbledon tournament, there is likely to be a new effort to stop the so-called "player-writer" racket in amateur lawn tennis.

Officials of the Lawn Tennis Association are becoming alarmed at the advantage which has been taken of the slackening of this clause in the rules, following an inquiry a few years ago.

Repeatedly, during the past few days, articles appearing under the names of players performing at Wimbledon have not only criticised fellow-players, but have forecast the results of matches in which the writers were due to take part.

In no other sport is this tolerated. Some members of the L.T.A. Council feel so strongly on the matter that it is almost certain to be raised at the first available opportunity.

The rules prohibit an amateur advertising his name, or permitting his name to be advertised as the author of any book or press article on the game of which he is not the actual author.

Few of the so-called writers are the actual authors of articles appearing under their names.

WATER POLO MATCH

Brilliant shooting by Stanley Lee, who chalked up four goals to his credit in the second half, enabled the Victoria Recreation Club "B" team to beat the Royal Engineers by five goals to one in a water polo match at the V.R.C. yesterday.

Omar was completely outplayed from the start by the wonderful consistency of his young opponent, who went off with a run by taking a four on the first head, followed up by a two on the second.

Thereafter Silva was always in the lead, and after the 13th head he was already 19-5 up. Then Omar scored a three to reduce the deficit, but it was an unavailing effort, as Silva took a brace on the next head to clinch the match.

It was a splendid performance on the part of Silva to outplay such a doughty opponent. Of the 16 heads played, he scored on no fewer than ten. Omar was successful in only five, in which he had three singles, a two and a three.

Though he has taken up the game only quite recently, Silva has done very well indeed in this year's open competitions. With F. X. Soares, a club-mate, he is now in the final of the open pairs championship. This early success augurs well for his bowls career in the Colony.

On an adjoining rink, R. F. da Luz, a former holder of the title, defeated J. S. Howell by 21-13 on the 18th head.

Though he was beaten by an eight-shot margin, Howell scored on as many heads as his opponent, but whereas Luz had a four, two threes and five twos, Howell could go on higher than twos, of which he had four. The remainder of his successful heads were singles.

Luz led 10-5 on the eighth head, 14-8 on the eleventh, 16-9 on the thirteenth and 19-13 on the 17th.

Playing on the Hongkong F.C. green, J. C. Meyer defeated W. Hillier by 21-7, while J. Watson beat C. S. Rossetti by 21-3.

A. A. Gutierrez opened the scoring for the V.R.C. and just before half time, Sergeant Sherman equalised. Lee, on the left wing, sent in four unstoppable shots in the second half to win the match.

ALLISS BEST OF THE LEAGUE GOLFERS

By Verdant

London, June 19.

Percy Alliss, the match-play champion, gained his rightful place at the head of the field in the £1,000 "Pencord" league tournament at Sandy Lodge, Northwood, yesterday.

He won the first prize with a total of 16 points, while Reginald Whitcombe, the youngest of three famous golfing brothers, and Bert Gadd (West Cheshire), one of the leading golfers of the North, tied for second prize with 15 points each.

In this novel tournament the twelve professionals who had the best average scores during last year's competitions qualified to take part. Each played the other an 18-holes match, two points being scored for a win and one for a half.

Alliss, who was not among the leading twelve on average scores, qualified by virtue of his success in the "News of the World" tournament, the unofficial professional match play championship, and he confirmed his right to the title by his play in the Pencord tournament.

In yesterday's exciting play there were three matches upon which the ultimate result rested. Alliss and Whitcombe led the field each with 15 points, Gadd had scored 14 when the day's play began. One of these three was certain to win.

Alliss was opposed to Pat Mahon, of Dublin, a golfer who had been unfortunate enough to win only two games, but Mahon did not take the result as a foregone conclusion.

The little Irishman was two down at the third, two down with nine played, and then squared the match at the 13th.

TIGHT FINISH

In a desperate finish both made errors and holes were exchanged until Mahon made the fatal error of taking three putts at the 17th to become one down.

Alliss, with victory waiting to be picked up, bunkered his tee shot at the eighteenth and Mahon won the hole to finish all square.

Alliss could now be overhauled. Whitcombe had to beat Henry Cotton, the open champion, to finish a point ahead of the leader, and in a great match he looked like doing so.

Cotton had not played well all through the week, but he played like a real champion against Whitcombe, going round in 68 to win on the home green.

It was cruel luck for Whitcombe, who made Cotton fight for his halves and went out in 32 to be one up. He was two up with eight to play, and lost his first hole at the twelfth.

Cotton, who had nothing to gain by winning, sympathised with his beaten opponent, whom he had deprived of first prize.

Now came Bert Gadd, with a chance to tie with Alliss, provided he could beat Richard Burton, another British International.

Gadd had only once been beaten—he had halved four matches—during the week, but he could not secure the two points; he only halved with Burton.

Out in 34, Burton turned one up in a desperate match. They exchanged holes all the way home, but the two holes that mattered most were the 13th, where Burton drove over the green and chipped back down, while Gadd, on the green from the tee, took three putts and lost a hole he should have won.

The other was the 17th, where Burton, one down, held a putt of about seven yards to square. That made another halved match for Gadd.

ELEVENTH SERIES.—F. J. Mahon and P. Alliss halved; T. H. Cotton beat Reg. Whitcombe, 2 up; A. J. Lacey beat S. L. Knight, 1 up; A. Burton and B. Gadd halved; A. H. Padgham beat C. H. Whitcombe, 4 and 2; W. J. Branch beat A. H. Padgham, 2 and 1.

FINAL PLACINGS.—P. Alliss, 16pts.; R. A. Whitcombe and B. Gadd, 15; T. H. Cotton, A. J. Lacey and R. Burton, 12; S. L. Knight and A. H. Padgham, 11; W. J. Branch, C. H. Whitcombe, B. A. Mitchell, B. J. Mahon, 8.

BRUNDAGE DEFENDS OLYMPICS

Chicago, June 10. The American Olympic Committee, in the opinion of its chairman, Avery Brundage, is but the agent of America's amateur athletes who "want to engage in fair and wholesome competition with their friends, the athletes and sportsmen of 50 other Nations, regardless of politics, religion or race."

Brundage made that statement last night in commenting on the resignation from the committee of William J. Bingham, Harvard Athletic Director and chairman of the 1936 U. S. Olympic Track and Field Committee. Bingham has dissociated himself from all connections with the 1940 games, awarded to Japan.

Brundage said the Committee can do nothing, nor is it attempting to do anything, about the conflict between Japan and China. Expressing regret that the Committee would no longer have the support of Bingham, Brundage said that "if the International Olympic Committee had to find a country whose present and past history was free from war and aggression in which to hold the games, there would be no games."

NURMI DISCUSSES PRESENT WORLD RUNNING RECORDS

Thinks Many Performances Can Still Be Bettered

Paavo Nurmi in an interview with the Norwegian "Sportsmanden" and other Finnish and Norwegian newspapers set forth his views on the prospects for the records for various running distances, on the occasion of the shortly-to-close Northern Light Athletic season.

It is Mr. Nurmi's expressed opinion that the world records for the complete distances of 800 to 10,000 metres in the next few years will be well bettered. "I would like to believe this," says the king of the runners, "that Henry Jonsson (Sweden), at the moment the best in the world for the popular distances of 3,000 and 5,000 metres, will accomplish the lastnamed distance (5,000 m.) in the time of 14.10."

In so far as the 800 m. distance is concerned, Nurmi does not wish to be taken as absolute authority, but "according to my clear mind," he says, "the world record for this distance is the weakest in the tables. Cunningham's 1.49.7 does not belong to the best running performances, and I also do not consider Woodruff's unrecognised 1.47.8 as a highest possible score."

WRONG TACTICS

According to Nurmi the world's record must lie below 1.45 in order to be of true class, "and when some day a runner will come—and it will not take so very long—who can run this distance with full tactics (I take this to mean proper form) then the record will slide down to 1.42. To-day they run the 800 m. distance in a crazy fashion, with the second 400 m. being run 3 to 5 seconds slower than the first. There should be, however, at the most, a difference of not more than one-half a second between the first and second rounds—a runner who can hold out and who is swift need not find that it brings any difficulties to do this—to run two 400 distances one after the other in 51 to 52 seconds."

"Also the record set by Jack Lovelock for the 1,500 m. at 3.47.8 does not incur any too great respect on my part," the great Finn goes on to say. "When the time will be lowered to 3.43 then we will stand at the threshold of the peak of man's endurance for the distance. I believe that San Romani is good for such a result, and also Cunningham has prospect of bettering his time. The same naturally is true for Lovelock, in the event that he wishes to start again."

"Unfortunately I have not seen the Englishman Wooderson," says Nurmi, "and therefore I am not in a position to speak of his qualifications with any authority. His records for the middle distances seem to be, however, of very good class. My express meaning is also in this case, that the present tactics (form or method of running) are not correct."

PEAK NOT REACHED

True the world records for the 3,000 metre distance have been bettered again and again in the past few years, but Mr. Nurmi is of the opinion that the peak has not been reached, and that the Finn Gunner Hockert will not enjoy his record of 8.14.8 as world's best very long. This record must be lowered by 8 seconds, in other words, two 1,500 m. runs—one following the other in a period of four minutes. When one considers how the speed among the runners for the longer distances has unfolded itself more and more, we must conclude that two such distances of 1,500 metres are not an impossibility for a strong and speedy young man.

According to Nurmi's opinion, considered as an individual, Henry Jonsson (Sweden) is the best in the world, but this does not mean that in a race with all the stars on the starting line that he will be the winner. He still lacks form. But this is a thing that will remedy itself with time, and he is without a doubt the man to bring about a really peak record for the 3,000 m. distance. "When I say," prophesies Nurmi further, "that Jonsson or another could reduce Lehtinen's world record for 5,000 metres in the time of 14.17 to the time of 14.00 and that Salminen can reduce his time of 30.05.6 for the 10,000 metres to 29.20, these are not just big words."

P. A. GIBB REPLACED BY PRICE

Another Keeper For The Test

P. A. Gibb, Cambridge wicket-keeper-batsmen, who was selected for the unplayed third test in place of the injured Ames, has been found unfit for the fourth test, to start at Leeds on Friday, and will be replaced by W. F. Price, of Middlesex.

Gibb was struck on the forehead by a ball from Smith during the Gentlemen-Players match on Saturday.

Like Gibb, Price is an opening bat, and while his average for last season was only 22, it included a century and several good scores. His wicket-keeping figures for last season, however, are excellent, and include one innings in which he dismissed seven batsmen.—Reuter.

ruminate on the world's records, and to invest them with international style, we were doubtless just as good as the best people of our day. We, however, did not have just the same purposes as these people did, and we could not work upon the same basis as now. The modern training for the long distances was at that time virtually unknown, and the results were for many distances of quite a modest class.

"It is therefore my conviction that there are in the offing strong improvements in the records for the 5,000 m. as well as the 10,000 m. Salminen is, after all, now quite old, but still despite that fact the best man in the world for over the mile, and in the position to lower the time of 30 minutes considerably."

CHINESE CHURCH DAMAGED

A bomb destroyed the minister's quarters and damaged the roof of the Chinese Christian Science Church nearby, which suffered much from the concussion.

Another bomb damaged the home of Professor Konrad Glatzer, a German teaching at the Wuhan University. The Professor told the correspondent that he had lived in this house since he came to China in 1903. After last week's bombing he told his wife to go to Hankow. I went to Hankow last night and fortunately I did not return this morning.

The correspondent inspected the house and found that plaster was brought down and window frames were pushed out. A ten foot square of plaster covered the desk where Professor Glatzer said he might have been working, at the time when the bombing took place, as it was his usual time to be at his desk.

He said: "Usually there was a flag on top of the roof but during the raids my servants lowered it, fearing that it might attract attention." The servants were not hurt.

The only American property involved in the bombing was the Catholic Girls' School, where part of the compound wall was damaged by a bomb. Outside the School the correspondent saw a house, where there was to have been a wedding, demolished with invitation cards scattered among the debris.

CHRISTIAN GENERAL ESCAPES

It is reliably learned that Marshal Feng Yu-shiang, better known as the Christian General, who is vice-Chairman of the Military Affairs Commission, narrowly escaped death when a bomb exploded at Wuchang this morning only 50 feet from the point where he stood.

A Central News report estimates that 1,100 people were killed and wounded in the Wuhan cities (Wuchang, Hankow and Hanyang) as a result of this morning's bombing, including five hundred victims killed in Hankow alone.—United Press.

HEAVY CASUALTIES

Hankow, July 19. The total casualties after the final check up must be high. Red Cross Society workers feverishly carried off the wounded to the hospitals already overcrowded with those injured in the raids.

In Wuchang the Japanese raiders once more bombed the places which suffered during the last air raid on the city on July 12.

M. Blondeau, French Consul in Hankow, published an announcement this morning in the Chinese newspapers that from now on during air raid alarms persons without special French Concession pass will not be allowed to enter the French Concession. The announcement adds that the authorities reserve the right

If necessary to close the gates at the entrance to the Concession.—Reuter.

HUNDREDS DIE

Hankow, July 19. Preliminary estimates placed the number of dead and wounded victims by the Japanese mass air attack on Wuchang—Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang—this morning at well over 100 men, women and children.

While the casualty list has not yet been completed, the death toll continues to mount as more bodies are being extricated under heaps of wreckage and debris which lay strewn along many of the streets in Hankow and Wuchang, and to a less extent in Hanyang.

More than one hundred bombs, including large numbers of incendiary missiles, light and heavy, were released in a most haphazard fashion by the raiding fliers. Most of the districts picked out as their targets were the poor centres where the largest number of deaths were registered.

Along Chungshan Road near the Anhwei Guild, a single missile dropped accounted for the death of a dozen people and the wounding of an equal number of others.

At Yenshoukang, a congested terrace inhabited by squatters, several incendiary missiles and high explosive bombs caused the instant death of at least thirty persons. Another 50 people received wounds, some fatal.

One of the most tragic scenes at this place was a whole family of grandmother, widowed mother and two grandchildren, which was wiped out in a single blast. When the bodies, terribly maimed, were exhumed from the heaps of wreckage, the youngest son was still in the arms of his mother.

Scores of thatched houses in the locality were burned out by fires set by the incendiary bombs, and whole families were literally incinerated to horrible death.

REFUGEES HIT

The greatest disaster of the day was at the Ningpo Guild, which was used as a refugee camp. Several direct hits were scored on the buildings, killing at least two thirds of the 300 refugees camped there.

Utmost confusion reigned the locality immediately after the carnage. Charred bodies, mixed intricately with twisted and burned wreckage, presented a horrible scene to rescue parties who were at a late hour this evening still at work amid the smoldering ruins.

Large fires at many places were raging at two o'clock in the afternoon. Scores of bodies buried under the debris could not be extricated until the flames were put out.

At Paoching Wharf along the water front, whole rows of buildings were levelled to the ground, burying with them at least 300 people, most of whom are believed to have perished.

Ten people met death and a score of others received injuries at Shenkimo on Shanghai Street, where whole blocks of houses were demolished. Two rows of houses at Jui-hing Terrace were destroyed, claiming more than a dozen fatalities.

Both the Sin Sin Amusement Ground and the Hankow Textile Factory made targets of the air attack. Large numbers of people in the locality were killed and wounded, the dead bodies picked up from Without Colic—And You'll Jump Out of Bed Full of Vigor.

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your blood system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks puny.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A more potent movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those famous Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow. the wreckage waiting for identification lining up several yards long.

At Wuchang, sixty bombs landed in the busy section of the town, killing seventy-one people and wounding about eighty. Large fires were started by many incendiary bombs, which razed many houses to the ground.

The number of death at Hanyang has not yet been ascertained, but is believed smaller.—Central News.

The contestant who guesses the correct number or the nearest thereto will be declared the winner of the radio.

RULES OF THE CONTEST—There is no entrance fee to this contest. Each guess must be submitted on a sheet of paper with your name and address and mailed to the King's Theatre "Girl of the Golden West" Contest", not later than THURSDAY NOON, JULY 21. Entries received after the expiration period will not be accepted for participation in the contest. Each guess must also be accompanied by your retained portion of the ticket to see the METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER production entitled "MANNEQUIN" starring Joan Crawford, which will be exhibited on July 17-20 inclusive at the King's Theatre. Each entrant can submit as many guesses as one desires, but each guess must be accompanied by the retained portion of the ticket for "MANNEQUIN".

This contest will not be open to anyone associated with the Motion Picture Industry or the employees of the Bosco Radio Corporation.

Entries will be numbered consecutively in order of their receipt and in the event that two or more individuals may strike upon the correct number or nearest thereto, the radio will be awarded to the person whose entry was first received by the King's Theatre.

The public is cordially invited to be present at the King's Theatre office on Tuesday, 26th July, at 11 a.m. for the opening of the entries. The decision of the winner will rest on the Management of King's Theatre and will be announced in all leading Newspapers of the Colony.

As a partial aid to contestants, we hereby inform them that the picture "THE GIRL OF THE GOLDEN WEST" will be exhibited for 20 performances, and that the maximum seating capacity of each performance is 1,087.

THE RADIO IS NOW ON DISPLAY IN THE KING'S THEATRE.

RANDOM RAMBLINGS

By "John Blunt"

Years spent in the East have fashioned me after that... "Wise old owl who sat on an oak; The more he heard the less he spoke; The less he spoke the more he heard... and I took 'a pattern from that old bird.'"

That excellent axiom is unfortunately a thing of the past. Having recently returned to Hongkong, I resigned myself to settling back into my inarticulate niche, but alas! life has changed so depressingly that one feels goaded into uttering his cry to swell the pandemonium of strange wailings.

Society, in the generally accepted sense, has disintegrated into so many diametrically opposed fragments. Young men with communistic leanings weakly preach insidious fallacies in which they have become enmeshed. Bereft of loyalty, devoid of common-sense, they imagine that by railing at what convention they will bring about the millennium.

Clashes delve into political craziness and preach anything from "red" doctrines to the creed of dictators. They vainly sacrifice the simplicity and beauty of the Divine and spiritual for the material and the secular. Some of them even become snobs and then wonder why they are not permitted to patronise all men. Humility is as foreign to them as is vanity to a leper. I am, of course, speaking of the unfortunate examples... the noise-mongers, the insincere, the hypocritical.

Much pity is being spent over the refugee problem. As long as I can remember, Hongkong always has had its masses of destitute beings who, in the early hours of the morning, can be seen searching the garbage bins for scraps of food, or some discarded trifle which may fetch a few cash at a marine dealer's store! What of these? The Street Sleepers' Society was founded some years ago to assist them. The S.P.C. cares for the children, but both of these societies complain of lack of funds regularly, being utterly unable to cope with the demand on their meagre resources. I remember no great impulse stirred to assist these and the poor within our gates, and yet, people are thinking in terms of the foreign refugees, apparently blind or indifferent to the prior claims of those born (many of them) within our gates. Let us discourage cant and humbug and take stock of ourselves and our Colony before we invite China's destitutes to flock here. I know the strict sense of justice inherent in our Chinese friends, and I am sure that they will agree. If a handful of foreigners and a sprinkling of Chinese wish to feed, house and clothe refugees, let them put their hands in their own pockets, and then announce the limit to which they are prepared to go. But first of all, let even these assure themselves that their is no prior claim to their charity in Hongkong itself. Let us be sensible and practical, and moreover, let us not forget that all cranks, in no matter what sphere, are a menace.

STOP PRESS NEWS

KIUKIANG HEAVILY BOMBED

Kiukiang, July 20.
At least 300 bombs were dropped by Japanese planes over a wide area around Kiukiang in one of the severest air raids experienced there yesterday.
Commencing at 8 a.m. two Japanese raiders flew over a point west of Sinkiang and dumped their cargo. At 11 o'clock, Chovickamen to the east of Kiukiang was raided by a squadron of Japanese aircraft which released about 60 missiles.
Four machings dropped 20 missiles at Tsomelshan, to the south-west of Sinkiang, at 2 p.m. Later, they flew over Sinkiang and unloaded 60 more missiles. More than 30 civilians there were either killed or maimed while rows of houses were blown up.
Peilpu, south-east of Kiukiang, and Moutashan, near Sinkiang, were also bombed in the afternoon.—Central News.

Hankow, July 20.
The Foreign Office spokesman has denied that the British Ambassador, Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, has protested against the Chinese occupation of British property at Kiukiang.—United Press.

H.M.S. SUFFOLK LEAVES TO-MORROW

H.M.S. Suffolk, the British cruiser which brought down 100 ratings and officers from Weihaiwei to Hongkong for transport to Hankow, will leave for Weihaiwei to-morrow, and not to-day, as originally scheduled.
H.M.S. Daring, which has been stationed at Swatow for some time, is due in the Colony to-day.

Drowned To Let Friends Live

Clinging to a capsize sailing yacht in the Firth of Forth, together with two girls and two schoolboys, a young student saw that his weight was dragging the waterlogged craft down.
"Cheerio, I'm off," he gasped, and struck out for an island a mile away. It was the last they saw of him.
He was David Hepworth, aged 19, living at Cranford, near Edinburgh. A schoolboy neighbour, Thomas Cranmore, unable to hang on any longer, was also drowned.
The girls and the other boy were saved by a party out for an evening's sail, who at first took distress signals for ducks.
They found Ruth and Valerie Sandeman, sisters, and the boat's owner, 15-year-old David Wilcox, clinging to the mast. All were saved. A sudden squall had overturned the yacht.

JAPAN NOTE DELIVERED

Tokyo, July 20.
Definite development in the border situation is considered improbable before the return of the two plenipotentiaries who are expected to be back either to-day or to-morrow unless they are killed by the Soviet troops, according to a Hunchuan message which says that the two plenipotentiaries, bearing prominent white flags, left a certain point on the eastern border of Manchukuo territory at 6.50 on Monday night to deliver an official note to the Soviet authorities.
This official note was addressed by the Japan-Manchukuo military authorities on the spot to the Soviet commander at Novokievsk.
It has now actually been ascertained that the two military plenipotentiaries were received by the Ogpu at Karachin, to whom they handed the note.—Domei.

New G.S.O. 2 Arrives In Hongkong

Major G. R. Way, R.A., General Staff Officer II, a new appointment in the Hongkong military command, has arrived in the Colony and taken up his duties at Command Headquarters.
It is also notified that Captain F. Sale, A.E.C., and Captain C. H. R. Hyde, Manchester Regiment, left Liverpool for Hongkong on July 9 aboard the Blue Funnel liner Sarpedon, which arrives here on August 12.
Captain Sale is the new Area Education Officer in succession to Captain G. W. P. Kimm, and Captain Hyde will assume the new post of Deputy Assistant Provost Marshal, and will be in charge of the entire military police.

WILD WELCOME FOR KING AND QUEEN

VAST CROWDS CHEER RULER THROUGH PARIS

Scenes Reminiscent Of London Coronation Greet Visitors

Boulogne, July 19.

Their Majesties the King and Queen entrained for Paris at 1.10 p.m. standing at the window of their sumptuous drawing-room coach and waving and smiling at the cheering crowd.

M. Georges Bonnet, the French Foreign Minister, left here by a fast rail car five minutes previously, in order to arrive in Paris in time to greet the King and Queen at the Quai d'Orsay.

Although the Royal train was not due to arrive at Paris much before 5 p.m., crowds were already massing in the early hours of the morning, crowding the flower-embowered route from the Bois de Boulogne Station to the Quai d'Orsay.

Loud speakers in the Champs Elysees entertained the waiting multitude with patriotic airs. Although the day was not a public holiday many shops closed in the afternoon, enabling the employees to obtain early places along the route. By 3 p.m. crowds estimated at 60,000 had already gathered along the streets to witness the State drive to the Elysee Palace, cheering the mounted detachments of Spahis as they rode by in red tunics, white cloaks and blue breeches.—Reuter.

Ceremonial Presentations

Paris, July 19. Their Majesties arrived at the Bois de Boulogne Railway Station at 4.50 p.m. as a salute of 101 guns was fired from Mont Valerien fortress.

The station was decorated with impressive splendour and taste. In the centre of the arrival platform a space fifty yards across was curtained off as a dais of honour with crimson draperies sweeping from the roof.

Two companies of Marines presented arms and the band played the British National Anthem and the Marseillaise as President Lebrun stepped forward to greet the King with a handshake and Madame Lebrun welcomed the Queen.

A general presentation of Cabinet Ministers and other notabilities followed, the engine driver of the Royal train being included. President Lebrun then offered the Queen his arm, the King offered his to Madame Lebrun and the procession moved to the specially erected 50-foot high reception hall outside the station, decorated with white, red and gold, hung with priceless tapestries, and redolent with banks of flowers, where further presentations took place. Their Majesties then descended to waiting motor cars.

China Hoping To Meet Obligations

Hankow, July 20.

The desire of the Chinese Government to continue service on Railway bonds as long as part or the whole of the railways were under Government operation or in Chinese control was expressed yesterday by Mr. Chang Kiang-ai, the Minister for Communications.

In this connection, the Minister drew attention to the recent payment of coupons on Lunghai Railway bonds.

Third Note Of Protest Sent By Britain

London, July 20.

It is revealed that the British Government has despatched a third Note to General Franco, demanding explanations for the bombing of British ships.—United Press.

HANKOW AWAITS RAIDERS

"They're Coming Again," Says Radio Operator

DEAD SILENCE FOLLOWS

Shanghai, July 20.

"They're coming again!" These three dramatic words conveyed to the outside world news that Hankow was preparing for another air raid.

They were received by the Central News Agency in Shanghai from their radio operator in Hankow, who was sending traffic when he interrupted to tell, in three words, that terror was again striking at the Yangtze city of a million people.

Silence followed the message, and no further details have been received.—United Press.

TERRORIST ACTIVITY UNABATED

Arabs Mass For Village Raids

Jerusalem, July 20.

Terrorist activities still rage unabated, and six Arabs and one Jewish police sergeant were killed to-day.

It is reported that a large band of Arabs is mobilising on the outskirts of Jerusalem for an attack on the isolation of villages in the Judean hills.—United Press.

Soviet Reinforcing Manchukuo Frontier Force

SUDETEN GERMANS PROVING STUBBORN

Won't Compromise On Independence Issue

Prague, July 20.

Events in Czechoslovakia are likely to "warm up" during the next few days.

It is understood that the Government's Minorities Statute is now completed and will be submitted to Parliament next week.

Details are not disclosed, but according to usually well-informed newspapers, they will provide a form of self-government for the various nationalities in the national Diet, which have a large measure of autonomy in local administration.

The Sudetens, however, do not indicate any satisfaction at the trend of events. Their headquarters has published the text of a memorandum handed to the Government on July 6, demanding, inter alia, that local national administrations should be entitled to insist on the application of any measures voted a second time, despite any adverse decision of the President or the National Assembly.—Reuter.

Foreigners Volunteer At Hankow

Ready To Undertake
Municipal Duties

Hankow, July 20.

Priests, missionaries, consular officials, business men were among those who packed the Hankow Club for a meeting, called by the Foreign Residents' Association, of all persons who offered their services for voluntary duties in the former British Concession in the event of extreme urgency.

The object of the meeting was to discuss details for assistance to the Council should such assistance be necessary, including help for the police, fire brigade and sanitary departments.

It was emphasised at the meeting that the service was purely municipal and that there was no question of fighting or such drastic steps.

The idea will be tried first in the former British Concession and probably will be extended later to other districts.—Reuter.

REMARKABLE ACCUSATION

The Yung Pao, in a leading article to-day, strongly criticises the establishment of a neutral zone in Hankow, since from experience, it says, it is known that such neutral zones for foreigners and refugees are tricks by the party Government and third Powers.

The newspaper says that since Japan notified all foreigners that they should evacuate Kukiang and Hankow there was no reason why they should remain.

"In order to carry out the 'scorching earth' policy, the Party Government is forcing all Chinese who remain in Hankow to become combatants, and there are no real refugees there now, it is claimed.

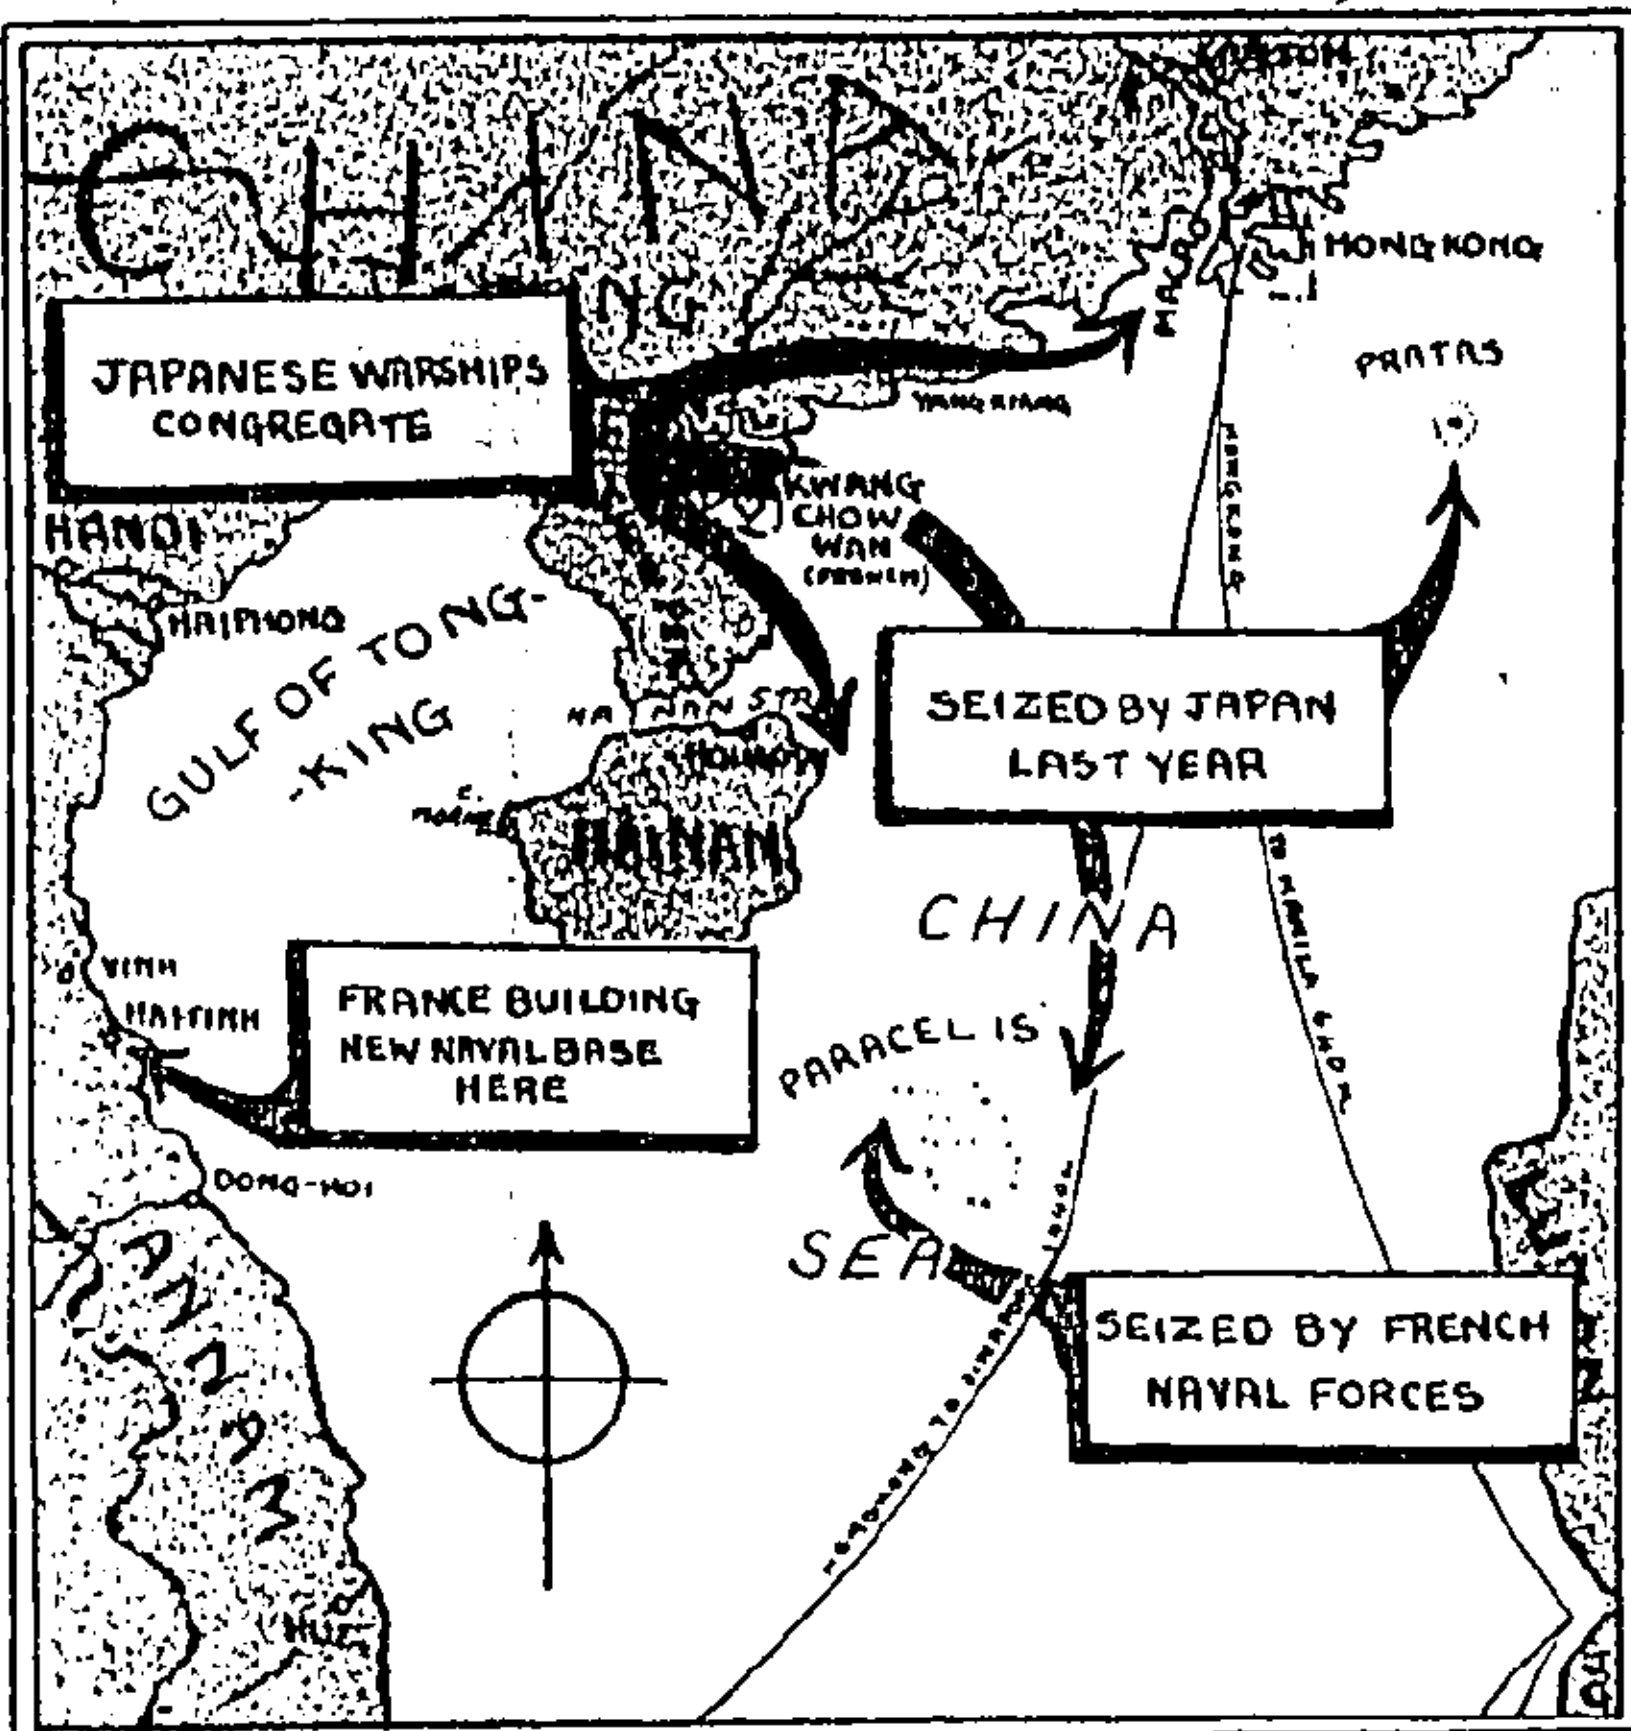

"Now that British sailors have arrived the British will probably want to negotiate for the return of the former British Concession, in recompense for which the British Government will possibly grant a loan of £20,000,000."—United Press.

Conscription Of Private Wealth Decreed

Berlin, July 20.

A decree has been issued, permitting the Reich to conscript private resources for military purposes. The decree is tantamount to virtual mobilisation of national resources, and is designed as a bulwark for the German war machine in order to satisfy the army's needs during marches and manoeuvres.

The decree is similar in its effect to the Japanese mobilisation decree.—United Press.

SCENES OF ALTERCATION shift swiftly in these times. A few days ago the world was watching the Paracels group, half anticipating that Japan and France might come to serious dispute over their administration, and although the matter has not been wholly settled the spheres of tension in Czechoslovakia and Manchukuo have overshadowed the minor Paracels trouble. The above map shows the relative importance of the group, however.

H. K. UNIVERSITY'S MATRICULATION RESULTS ANNOUNCED

Of the 356 boys and girls who wrote the Hongkong University Matriculation Examinations, in various categories, 192 obtained a passing standard, it was announced by the University authorities to-day.

Of the boys 220 were from schools and of these 136 passed, while of the girls 86 were from schools and of these 48 passed.

Letters informing successful candidates of the results will be forwarded in due course, it is announced, to the Headmasters and Headmistresses of the schools concerned. In the case of private students these letters will be retained at the General Office of the University until applied for. Mr. Stanley V. Boxer, the Acting Registrar announces.

The following are the results of the examinations:

The letters after a candidate's name indicate the Faculties or Courses which the candidate is entitled to enter, according to the following table:

Protection Promised To British Ships

Navy Prepared To Act In Far East

London, July 19. The status of British shipping in the Far East was discussed in the House of Commons to-day when Mr. G. L. Mander, Labour M.P. for East Wolverhampton, asked what steps were being taken to protect British and Dominion shipping in the China Seas from deliberate attacks by aircraft.

Mr. R. A. Butler, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said that the Government had not found it necessary since December to take special steps regarding British ships in the Far East.

There have been no further attacks on British ships, he declared. If, as he trusted would not be the case, any further attacks occur, His Majesty's ships would take such action as was practicable. The position at present was for British shipping to communicate with the Japanese authorities when any precautions appeared desirable.

Mr. Mander asked if the position was precisely the same in the Far East and Spain. "No, because in the Far East British warships have certain treaty rights in China's ports and territorial waters," Mr. Butler replied.—Reuter.

RUMANIA MOURNS QUEEN

Patriot's Heart To Lie By Black Sea

Bucharest, July 20. Thousands of people, standing bare-headed in the streets, witnessed the transfer of the entire nation into mourning.

Ecclesiastics through Rumania were ordered to hold daily Masses until the funeral takes place on Sunday. All places of amusement have been closed. In accordance with Queen Marie's will, the hall of the Castle in which her body lies in State has been draped in purple instead of black.

Queen Marie has requested that her heart be placed in a silver urn and deposited in Balceric Castle, overlooking the Black Sea.—United Press.

SHIPS IN RADIO COMMUNICATION

The following ships are expected to be in wireless communication with the Hongkong Radio Station to-day:

Empress of Japan; Kumsang; Rawalpindi; Tegoberg; Triton; Leesang; Huphe; Yuensang; Sealara; Potsdam; Leona; Cape St. Francis; Ning Po; Baron Blythwood; Conte Verde; Kamo Maru.

Planes Aid Firefighters In Forests

Severe Blazes In California

San Francisco, July 20. Raging bush and timber fires in eight national forests in northern California are being fought by an army of volunteer firefighters. Officials of the Forestry Department announce that 2,000 men are fighting an uncontrolled, 2,000-acre fire at Red Cat, in the prairie area north-east of Eureka. The fire is spreading alarmingly and a further 150 volunteers have been summoned to assist.

A total of 355 fires are raging throughout the State, the number increasing rapidly since last Wednesday's lightning storms. Three aeroplanes have been chartered to search for new outbreaks and to parachute food to the firefighters.—United Press.

SENTENCE REDUCED

Punishment Held Too Severe

The sentence of two years' hard labour passed on Chan Chun-shing, 37, soy preserver, and a refugee from Amoy, on Monday last after he had been found guilty of uttering a forged $100 note at the Bombay Silk Store and possession of same, was reduced by Mr. Justice R. E. Lindsell, Acting Chief Justice, at the Criminal Sessions this morning. Addressing prisoner, His Lordship said: "Since I sentenced you on Monday last to two years' hard labour, I have given your case very careful consideration. Accepting as I do the likelihood that your original possession of that $100 note was innocent, that your story of fleeing to Hongkong from Amoy on account of bombing of your premises there is true, I have come to the conclusion that the sentence I passed on you was, in the circumstances of the case, too severe."

Your crime, though greater in degree, is no different in essence from that of a person who finds himself in possession of a bad 10-cent piece and gets rid of it by putting it in a slot machine; and your deliberate use did not in fact injure anybody because it was detected. Moreover, I have ascertained that at the recent Sessions a woman, who was charged with possessing a forged $5 note and the circumstances made it clear that she was a member of a gang, the sentence was only the same as that I have passed on you.

At the same time, you did think out a deliberate and wicked plan, which, if it had succeeded, would have heavily victimised others, and there is no excuse whatever that, because you have been victimised yourself, you should try and recoup your losses by cheating others.

You deserve punishment not only as a lesson to yourself but also as a deterrent to other people who may find themselves in the same position. In the circumstances of the case, I think justice would be done if I fined you $250 with the alternative of six months' hard labour on the charge of uttering, and discharge you with a caution on the count of possession.

SHOWERS LIKELY

Local showers are indicated by the Royal Observatory weather report issued this morning.

The local forecast is: East winds, moderate; fair generally, some local showers.

The report adds that an area of moderately high pressure covers South China and Japan, pressure being highest to the south of Korea. The depression to the east of Luzon appears to be stationary. The depression over Indo-China has decreased slightly in intensity.

Yesterday the maximum temperature recorded was 87 degrees, and the minimum last night was 70. This morning the temperature was 86, with humidity at 75 per cent.

There was only 20 inches of rainfall during the past 24 hours, and the total for the year was 32.93 inches, as compared with an average of 47.31 inches.

"THIS IS FILTHY BUSINESS"

Magistrate Passes Stiff Sentence On Divan Keeper

The Acting Chief Justice's remarks that people who engaged in the heroin traffic were a peril and a pest to the community were quoted to Lam Yee, 51, when he was charged with the possession of 132 heroin pills and six mace of prepared opium in a divan in Hong Lok Street before Mr. K. M. A. Barnett at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning.

After Lam had said that he was the manager of the place, and had been for four months, His Worship commented that from his tone it would seem he was proud of the fact.

"This is a filthy business, unfit for any human being to pursue," declared His Worship, sentencing him to 12 months' hard labour and fining him $292 or a further six months.

The keeper of another divan in the same street, Tang Hung, 35, was fined $225 or six months and sentenced to six months for the possession of 203 pills and seven mace of opium.

Before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen in the first court, Leung Yiu, 38, was sentenced to four months and fined $445 or eight months for the possession of 335 pills and two mace of opium in a divan on the ground floor of 114 Temple Street.

For the possession of 112 pills and three mace of opium at 106 Shanghai Street, first floor, Ho Ying, 27, was sentenced to four months and fined $227 or seven months. Revenue Officer E. T. Warden prosecuted.

OPIUM IN POSSESSION
A fine of $180 with the alternative of three months' imprisonment was imposed on Ho Ping, unemployed, for possession of raw opium at the Ping On wharf, by Mr. R. Edwards at the Central Magistracy this morning. It was said that the opium was hidden in the sole of a shoe.

KEPT DIVAN
We Kam, unemployed, was charged with keeping an opium divan and possession of opium in a house at Hollywood Road, before Mr. R. Edwards at the Central Magistracy this morning and was fined $80 or, in default, six weeks' imprisonment on the first charge, and $100 with the alternative of two months' imprisonment for the second charge.

TENEMENT TURNED TO OVEN

That he had turned a tenement house into a large oven through working a blast furnace in the ground floor, was stated at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning when the manager of the To Keung Company, 127 Woosung Street, was summoned before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen for running an unregistered factory.

Mr. D. W. Phillips, Assistant Inspector of Factories, said he had visited the place following complaints from the tenants and found a glass melting furnace for making parts for electric light bulbs at work. White flames were shooting up from the top, almost reaching the ceiling, and the first floor was unbearably hot.

There was no fire for regulation, but the furnace would not have been allowed in a four-storeyed tenement house.

A fine of $100 was imposed.

WORKING OVERTIME
The manager of the Sang Fat Knitting Company, Fuk Wing Street, was fined $20 for working 27 women employees overtime.

Mr. Phillips said that the women should have stopped at 8 p.m., but when he visited the premises at 9.05 p.m. on June 18, he found them still at work. The factory had been warned once before for this.

H.M.S. SUFFOLK LEAVING TO-DAY

H.M.S. Suffolk, the British cruiser which brought down 100 ratings and officers from Weihaiwei to Hongkong for transport to Hankow, will leave for Weihaiwei to-day.

H.M.S. Daring, which has been stationed at Swatow for some time, is due in the Colony to-day.

Tried To Hide Radio Set

Though he fled from Canton because of Japanese bombs, Chan Fan apparently has a mind which can rise above national animosity, for when he took a flat in Fuk Wing Street, he installed a Japanese radio set. Unfortunately, he omitted to secure a licence for it.

Summoned to appear before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning as a result, he sent a representative with a note explaining he was unable to attend because of illness.

Declaring that there had been a deliberate attempt to conceal the set, Mr. A. E. E. Jeffries, Inspector of Wireless, said that when he called at 12.45 p.m. on June 20, the occupants tried to slam the door in his face. He managed to force it open slightly, and saw that there was a considerable amount of activity going on.

Succeeding in bursting his way in, he saw a small boy run towards the rear of the flat carrying a small parcel, which the lad tried to hide under a bed.

The parcel was opened, and a small Japanese set was found. The aerial was an indoor one.

A fine of $75 was imposed.

On a similar summons, Lau Kwok-ying, of 21 Wong Chuk Street, was fined $40.

Mr. Jeffries said defendant had allowed his licence to expire, but when reminded of it, replied that he had destroyed his set. When visited on June 20, the set was found to be in good working order.

A radio owner who had failed to notify change of his address, L. G. Alves, of Granville Road, was fined $10.

PRIVILEGE PROBLEM WITH COMMITTEE

London, July 20. The House of Commons, without division, agreed to a motion by Sir Archibald Sinclair, the Liberal leader, remitting the question as to who summoned Mr. Duncan Sandys to appear before the Military Court of Inquiry to the Select Committee which is now considering the applicability of the Official Secrets Act to Members of Parliament.

Mr. Clement Attlee, leader of the Labour Opposition, who had moved that the resolution passed by the House of Commons on July 11, agreeing to the report of the Committee of Privileges, be rescinded, and that the report be re-committed to the Committee of Privileges, accepted Sir Archibald Sinclair's amendment.—Reuter Special.

DAMAGED SHIPS REACH PORT

London, July 19. Lloyd's Liverpool office reports that the steamers Munster and Westcoast have arrived at the River Mersey.

The bows of the Westcoast are badly twisted, while the Munster is damaged on her starboard side.—United Press.

WHO IS SHE?

How many times is that question asked when a beautiful woman enters a room? Immaculate from head to foot—styled to the minute—lustrous hair adding that youthful touch.

It has been said "A woman's crowning glory is her hair." That certainly holds true to-day.

Hair styles of to-day depend on proper shampooing. A proper shampoo should leave the hair easy to manage—should not contain harsh alkali which dries the scalp—should contain natural oils which nourish the scalp. Avoid ordinary soaps.

Discriminating women everywhere use Mulsified because it leaves the hair soft and easy to manage—preserves its natural wave and colour—makes it sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

INSURGENT BOOTY VERY BIG

Half Of Loyalists' Losses Prisoners

Burgos, July 19. War materials captured by the insurgents during the second year of the Civil War comprise, according to an unofficial communique, the following:

412 guns;
1,752 machine guns;
1,600 machine revolvers;
131,639 rifles;
1,188 trench mortars;
126 tanks;
721,000 hand grenades;
246,000 rounds of ammunition.

Territory captured since July 18, 1937 comprises 7,007 square miles, containing a population of 1,784,000 people.

Loyalist aeroplanes shot down totalled 452 and Loyalist casualties were 300,000, of whom 150,000 were taken prisoner.—Trans-Ocean.

CONCENTRATE ON DEFENCE OF VALENCIA

London, July 19. The Loyalist Press Agency in Valencia states that the Defence Council has issued a decree providing that the energies of all able-bodied persons must be concentrated on defence to the exclusion of all other work. A general draft to fortifications, trenches and bomb shelters has been ordered.—United Press.

GRAVE CHARGES AGAINST TRIO

As a result of attacks upon a woman in King's Park, three Chinese, Au Shu, 27, Chief Engineer on the steamer Kam Ma, Lau Kwai-cho, 32, unemployed, and Au Chi-luen, 35, ship fitter, were charged before Mr Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning.

The first two were accused of indecently assaulting an 18-year-old girl, Chan Ki-sum, at 8.30 p.m. on July 18, while the third was charged with assaulting a student, Chan Ki-sum, 18. Defendants were also charged with loitering, and in addition, the first defendant is alleged to have impersonated a police officer.

At the request of Detective Sergeant W. Morrison they were remanded for 24 hours in police custody for the purpose of an identification parade.

FIRE IN STEAMER

Fire broke out in the steamer Tin How, at Kowloon Docks, at 3 a.m. to-day, but was quickly controlled and damage was confined to the refrigeration system.

ALLEGEDLY STATES' SUDETEN PROBLEM MUST BE SETTLED

Hitler Much Dissatisfied With Prague Negotiations

Berlin, July 19.

Captain Wiedemann, aide-de-camp to Herr Adolf Hitler, who is visiting London, talked with Lord Halifax, the Foreign Minister, to-day. The visit of the German officer is described as private in nature, but it is believed here that Captain Wiedemann is emphasising the urgency of the Czecho-Slovakian problem.

It is believed he told Lord Halifax that there must be no further delay in finding a solution.

It is known that Herr Hitler is dissatisfied in the extreme with the progress between the Sudeten Germans and the Czech Government.

It is felt that while Germany might accept a compromise with regard to the treatment of the Sudeten and acquiesce in a degree of local autonomy, the Reich authorities are not prepared to tolerate a continuance of Czecho-Slovakia's "connection with Russia," which is held responsible for the "incidents" on the Czech side of the frontier.

Czecho-Slovakia has a defensive understanding with the Soviet, as

Manila Vessel Is Offering Help

Manila, July 19. The British freighter City of Derby, 6,616 tons, owned by the Ellerman Bucknall Line, has issued an S.O.S., saying she is aground on Silbo Island, midway between Mindanao and Negros Island. Later messages state that the ship is not leaking and is lying quietly. The weather is moderate. The steamer Luzon has offered assistance.—United Press.

Inner Cabinet Meets

Prague, July 19. Despite the continued allegations in the German press that the Czecho-Slovakian authorities are mobilising their frontier defence, the Czech Government has declared everything to be normal in the capital, with traffic, postal and telegraphic communications functioning without interference.

The Inner Cabinet met to-day, presided over by Dr. Edouard Benes, who only attends, being the President, when important matters are discussed.

The Sudeten German leaders deny that the final stage of negotiations for settlement of their differences with the Prague administration has been reached, as far as they are concerned.—Reuter.

CORRIGAN LOSES LICENCE

Unable To Fly His Plane From Eire.

Washington, July 19. Douglas Corrigan, 33-year-old Irish-American who claims to have flown the Atlantic by mistake, has been deprived of the licence for his plane by the Air Commerce Bureau here.

This move prevents Corrigan leaving Dublin by air in his own machine—Reuter Bulletin.

Corrigan landed in Eire yesterday after a 28-hour crossing of the Atlantic, but declared he had intended to fly from New York to Los Angeles, non-stop, and owing to failure of his very few instruments took an easterly instead of a westerly course.

His plane has been described as being held together with wire and his de-icer equipment was a long rod. PUNISHED AND CONGRATULATED

Dublin, July 19. The Irish Customs Department has detained Corrigan's battered plane as a result of the action of the U.S. Department of Commerce in suspending its certificate.

Corrigan states that he will endeavour to obtain the release of the plane and, if successful, will fly to London within the next few days, after which his plans are indefinite. However, he may fly to Glasgow to put the plane on exhibition at the British Empire Exhibition.

Corrigan to-day visited the Government Buildings and gave Premier de Valera a first-hand account of his amazing flight.

He awoke at 9 a.m. and read a sheaf of congratulatory cables from all over the world. One was from Henry Ford, the motor magnate.

MAY CIRCLE GLOBE

Corrigan's casual comment that his plane was "good enough to fly around the world" has led some to believe that the idea of circling the earth is dawn-ing.

His trans-Atlantic exploit has created a sensation in newspapers on both sides of the English Channel.

Hundreds gathered outside the U.S. Legation to catch a glimpse of the jaunty Irish-American.—United Press.

HAD MAP OF RUSSIA

San Diego, July 19. It is suspected that Corrigan had every intention of flying around the world.

It is recalled that he was found in possession of a map of Soviet Russia shortly before his hop from Los Angeles to New York.—United Press.

PUBLIC MAY BACK HIM

Los Angeles, July 19. A movement is under way here to finance Corrigan for a flight around the world by means of subscriptions from the public.—United Press.

FILM COMPANY OFFER

Hollywood, July 19. Hal Roach Studios have cabled Corrigan an offer of a film, test and a contract if the test is successful.—United Press.

WASHINGTON STEPS IN
Washington, July 19. The Department of Commerce has cancelled Corrigan's experimental licence in order to prevent him from attempting a westward trans-Atlantic flight.

The Assistant Secretary of Commerce said that the punishment would involve the suspension of the pilot's certificate for from 30 to 60 days.—United Press.

RANDOM RAMBLINGS

By "John Blunt"

Years spent in the East have fashioned me after that... "Wise old owl who sat on an oak; The more he heard the less he spoke; The less he spoke the more he heard... and I took "a pattern from that old bird."

That excellent axiom is unfortunately a thing of the past. Having recently returned to Hongkong, I resigned myself to settling back into my inarticulate niche, but alas! life has changed so depressingly that one feels goaded into uttering his cry to swell the pandemonium of strange wailings.

Society, in the generally accepted sense, has disintegrated into so many diametrically opposed fragments. Young men with communistic leanings weakly preach insidious fallacies in which they have become enamoured. Bereft of loyalty, devoid of common-sense, they imagine that by sailing against convention they will bring about the millennium.

Clerics delve into political craziness and preach anything from "red" doctrines to the creed of dictators. They wantonly sacrifice the simplicity and beauty of the Divine and spiritual to the material and the secular. Some of them even become snobs and then wonder why they are not permitted to patronise all men. Humility is as foreign to them as is vanity to a leper. I am, of course, speaking of the unfortunate examples... the noise-mongers, the insincere, the hypocritical.

Much pity is being split over the refugee problem. As long as I can remember, Hongkong always has had its masses of destitute beings, who, in the early hours of the morning can be seen searching the garbage bins for scraps of food, or some discarded trifle which may fetch a few cash at a marine dealer's store.

What of these? The Street Sleepers' Society was founded some years ago to assist them. The S.P.C. cares for the children, but both of these societies complain of lack of funds regularly, being utterly unable to cope with the demand on their meagre resources. I remember no great impulse stirred to assist these and the poor within our gates, and yet people are thinking in terms of the foreign refugees, apparently blind or indifferent to the prior claims of those born (many of them) within our gates. Let us discourage cant and humbug and take stock of ourselves and our Colony before we invite China's destitutes to flock here. I know the strict sense of justice inherent in our Chinese friends, and I am sure that they will agree. If hundreds of foreigners and a sprinkling of Chinese wish to feed, house and clothe refugees, let them put their hands in their own pockets, and then announce the limit to which they are prepared to go. But first of all, let even them evidence. Confronted with these facts, Mr. Sterling decided to use the simple affirmation, declaring that by such means, it would be more likely to secure truth from a witness than all the pseudo-attempts to comply with native customs, and the form initiated by Mr. Sterling continues to the present day.

Transferred To Ceylon

Apart from the long controversy over the form of oath to be administered to Chinese witnesses, there was much evidence to show that the Supreme Court was not functioning as well as it had been originally hoped, and the Attorney-General was widely blamed by his contemporaries on account of what was alleged to be glaring inefficiency. Indeed, whether this indictment is entirely true or not cannot be said, but at least, as was remarked, at the time, "there were two Police Magistrates and an Attorney-General, all well paid and certainly not over-worked, and yet, Session after Session, cases were set down for trial which, even without the handling of prisoners' counsel, fell to pieces by their own inherent weakness, and through some legal flaw, which it was said an attorney's apprentice at Home would be ashamed to have overlooked."

Consequently, in view of this state of affairs, when the news of the appointment of Mr. Sterling to a Puisne Judgeship in Ceylon in late October 1855, few, if any, of the community showed signs of regret. In fact, the local opinion of him was that he was tolerated but not liked, nor "generally esteemed for forensic powers." The press announcement of the day was succinct in its summary: "Both the learned gentleman and the community were congratulated on his removal to a newer and richer field of inaction, and as for the Ceylon folks, in the words of Burns—'We wish them luck o' the prize man.'"

The Hon. Mr. Sterling spent some eight years in his new post, when he retired on a pension. Died at Southsea, Hampshire, August 23, 1879, aged 75 years.

FASCISM MARCHES

Trouble appears to be in the making on two frontiers, and there may or may not be some connection between them. Any one who has ever read anything of the old system of imperial tactics—and one does not have to go beyond recent history—may suspect that the German press talk of Czechoslovakian military activity and the Japanese reports of an invasion of Manchukuoan territory by the Soviet are inter-related. It has long been an accepted rule of the game of imperial conquest to start the actual campaign by forcing "an incident" upon the intended victim, according to authorities on this subject. Garratt, in his "Mussolini's Roman Empire", recalls the classic example of Walwal as a proof that what the Italians learned of tactics long foregone by rivals in the imperial field was put to good use against the unfortunate Negus. Probably he is not wrong. The whole of Italy's campaign was a series of well-thought-out diplomatic and finally practical military moves calculated to avoid suspicion that there was any real, premeditated evil intended against a harmless state—harmless, in spite of the allegation that it still was a stronghold of slavery. There may be a parallel in the present German outcry against Czechoslovakian military preparations. At most, there seems little foundation for the German excitement. And in any event what could the Czechs be planning that in any way menaces Germany or her friends? Germany can have no more to fear from the Czechs than Italy had to fear from Ethiopia.

And now comes this business on the Manchukuoan frontier. Is it possible that Germany foresaw it? It seems incredible; but if we are to accept the argument that the press campaign directed against the Czechs is the first step in a more serious movement, then it must be accepted as a possibility that some such preoccupation for Russia was in prospect. For it has been Germany's consistent policy to wait upon propitious circumstances before launching her several political adventures of the last few years. And her

Personalities of Old Hongkong

HON. PAUL IVY STERLING

First Attorney-General Of Hongkong

By T. PAUL GREGORY

In any Crown Colony, there are bound to be amongst the host of Civil Servants sent out over a long period of years, men of outstanding talent as well as those of more mediocre ability. Of the latter type, one could fairly class the first Attorney-General of Hongkong. He was the Hon. Paul Ivy Sterling, and if we are to believe the impartial judgments of history, his sojourn here of nearly eleven years was largely marked by groping efforts at reconciling the apparent novelty of English law and court procedure to that of the ancient customs and prejudices of the Colony's Chinese.

The Hon. Paul Ivy Sterling was born in Queen's County, Ireland in the year 1804. He was the eldest son of the Rev. Joseph Sterling, a rector of a country parish. His father's position, however, enabled him to secure an excellent education, and he graduated at Trinity College, Dublin, and, subsequently becoming interested in the study of the law, he entered King's Inn for that purpose. He was called to the Irish Bar during the Michaelmas Term in 1829, and shortly afterwards proceeded to London, where he undertook a course of further study at Gray's Inn. He was now a full-fledged barrister so to speak, and we find that from his twenty-sixth to his thirty-ninth year he engaged in an extensive private practice. In fact, his reputation became so great that it was patent he would come to the notice of the Home Government who were then casting about for eminent legal talent to go to the Far East in the capacity of a quorum for the newly organised Court in Hongkong.

Great Things Expected

Whether Mr. Sterling's appointment as Attorney-General of this Colony was influenced by the decision of Judge John Walter Hulme, the newly nominated Chief Justice, we do not know, but at least we do know from the old chronicles of Hongkong that great things were expected of him. His arrival here on July 28, 1844 was anxiously awaited, and the public were confident that he would further enhance the splendid reputation he had already earned at Home. The reception afforded him on his arrival was noteworthy, and a few days afterwards he was duly gazetted as a member of the Executive Council of the then Governor, Sir Francis Davis. In fact, everything was statesmen have admitted this to be the case.

There is another possibility, of course: that Japan, made aware of "something stirring" on the Czech-German border is now ready to challenge the Russians, hoping for their concern at the Czech situation—which may very easily develop now at the same rate of speed as the Manchukuo incident—to prevent their taking anything but an apologetic attitude in the Far East.

Conjecture, it may be said, is no argument. No, indeed. But a certain amount of it, mixed with a little understanding of the policies of the nations and the probable trend of their ambitions makes possible a fairly accurate prediction as to the manner of their progress. The Italians have conquered Ethiopia. The Spanish situation is rapidly being liquidated. The Japanese have started a war of conquest in China. Germany has seized Austria. Fascism is on the march; and a wise man will watch for the place where the boots of its armies next may tread.

all set for a legal career of surpassing eminence, and on October 1, the Supreme Court was formally opened with all the solemnity and ceremony befitting such an occasion. It was in reality a gala event, and the whole Colony turned out en masse to witness the seating of the dignitaries on the Bench. To the Chinese inhabitants, too, the event was a picturesque one and the sight of the Chief Justice, Mr. Hulme, the Attorney-General, Mr. Sterling, and the full Bar in their robes and wigs was an impressive sight.

Although, the Court started off with favourable aplomb, there was still a great deal to be done, and it was over a decade before the legal administration of the Colony commenced to function with any of the efficiency that it so commendably displays to-day. In fact, although the Chief Justice was apparently the right man for his position, the man chosen for the post of Attorney-General soon proved to be rather a disappointment. Mr. Sterling, in short, seemed to lack the pioneer spirit necessary to persevere in a newly opened Colony, and the vastly different environment prevailing in the East, proved to be an almost unsurmountable obstacle.

Glaring Inefficiency

Most of those early Criminal Sessions in the Colony were marked by examples of glaring inefficiency, and it was a wonder how justice could have been administered at all. First, there was the difficulty of securing qualified interpreters, and the Court was confronted with an ever rising series of predicaments which would impair the deliberations of even a Solon. Most of this was due to the awkward situation arising from administering the oath to witnesses in the Court. The Chinese were, of course, entirely ignorant of English procedure, and there were many ludicrous attempts to adopt some expedient which would conform to native customs. Every one seems to have had a different opinion, and there were unseemly scenes in the Court when the Jury would disagree with the Attorney-General as to the mode to be followed. The Chinese themselves gave no hint as to how they wanted to be sworn in, and all efforts at securing the qualified information seemed fruitless. Certain of the settlers, however, had witnessed a form of oath common amongst Chinese pirates and gangsters, that is, of cutting off the head of a cock before a sort of shrine on which were arranged the inevitable concomitants of Chinese worship—the scarlet ceremonial candles and the sticks of fragrant incense. This was suggested and actually tried for a time in the first Criminal Sessions. At length, however, when it was found out by bitter experience that even this complicated system of securing the veracity of a witness's oath was lacking in the desired results, it was abolished, and another form almost as absurd adopted in its stead.

This was the burning of a sheet of yellow paper about six by eight inches in size in the Court room by the witness being sworn in. On this paper were written or (supposed to be written) various details, such as the date, the name of the witness, etc. The Chinese, however, when called upon to swear by this means could scarcely restrain their mirth, and it was soon found that the evidence elicited under such circumstances was invariably as devoid of truth as if the witness had not been sworn in at all. This state of affairs went on for a number of years, until at length, a really competent interpreter was hired at a salary of £150 per annum. This was Mr. Caldwell, who was soon to figure extensively in the history of the Colony at this period.

GRIN AND BEAR IT By Lichty

CATS THAT GO WILD DON'T LAST LONG...

WALKING up the steep field-edge to Hangghigh Wood, I saw a large cat slitting at the edge of the trees. Immediately I stood still.

It saw me a moment afterwards; gave a swift, crouching stare; turned belly-low; was gone among the nettles. Its face was broad, its whiskers long, its eyes were yellow with intense, concentrated scrutiny. It was wild.

A tame cat has some hours or periods of relaxation, when its eyes can dream, or unfocus from the movements of life about it. The muscles of its eyes are starker than those of a cat whose life is always lived on the sharp edges of sight and sound.

Had the cat been tame, it would have stared at me, probably sitting up. Had it been half-wild, it would have crouched, but would have remained "frozen" until I moved again. But this cat, all of its senses sharpened in wildness, did not wait for me to take the initiative. It vanished.

HOW came it wild? I think I can truly imagine its history. There are many cats in English woods returned to wildness. Indeed, there are two generations of cats being prepared for wildness on my farm now.

At the moment, they are there to catch rats. At least, two of the Court room by the witness being sworn in. On this paper were written or (supposed to be written) various details, such as the date, the name of the witness, etc. The Chinese, however, when called upon to swear by this means could scarcely restrain their mirth, and it was soon found that the evidence elicited under such circumstances was invariably as devoid of truth as if the witness had not been sworn in at all. This state of affairs went on for a number of years, until at length, a really competent interpreter was hired at a salary of £150 per annum. This was Mr. Caldwell, who was soon to figure extensively in the history of the Colony at this period.

He was certainly the only man then in the Colony who actually knew the Chinese mentality and could speak the language as well as the people themselves. When he was asked by the Attorney-General to explain why the system of swearing in witnesses by burning a sheet of yellow paper was such a patent failure, he was alleged to have laughed, and remarked with evident amusement that for one thing the procedure was almost unheard of amongst the Chinese. Furthermore, if it were to be valid, the paper must bear the exact hour of the person's birth, his name in full, and various minutiae which could only be secured with the fullest co-operation of the witness, which obviously under the existing circumstances was a practical impossibility.

Questioned further as to how the Chinese mandarins managed to secure impartial evidence, if no such oaths as were tried in the Supreme Court were employed, Caldwell stated that the Chinese yamons of the day depended on torture to extract truthful smaller cats remain; the third, our young friend Tommy-Tommy, has already gone.

All that is left of Tommy-Tommy (as the children named him) is his plaintive going-wild meow. This sad little cry was imitated by the starlings in the trees over the chalk quarry, and now is part of their communal spring song.

But Tommy-Tommy no longer wants to greet me, fall in air and twilight, uttering his reproachful where-have-you-been mew, before turning over on his head and rolling on his back—a trick taught him in kittenhood by old Jimmy, who first brought Tommy-Tommy to be a rat-catcher in the corn barn.

TOMMY-TOMMY was a shy, swift, sleek young cat when first I saw him. He and another lived in the turnip house, from which they visited the bullock yards, the pigs' pens, the granary, hay-barn, cornbin, stables, in a regular round. First they caught mice; then small rats, which they killed and ate quickly.

When we came to live in the granary, last autumn, Tommy-Tommy used to visit us, slinking through a hole in the flapping door, huskily meowing, and ready to flee like a shadow at the slightest quick movement.

After a week he became used to human movements, and even squatted on the mat by the stove: although he was liable at any moment to run away.

After another week he was sleek and used to us. He stayed in at night, although always during the morning he brought young rats and laid them at my feet. I am sure this was gratitude.

BUT at Christmas we left for the cottages, which were more or less (chiefly less) ready. Tommy-Tommy was left behind to kill the rats. He waited for us, day after day, by the closed granary door. He fed with the chickens every afternoon; but uneasily.

It was then that those greasy, proletarian, oil-hued, treacherous linps, the starlings, ever on the listen for new sounds and noises (like the commercial dance songsters, they have little music of their own, beyond clucking or percussive noises), learned the plaintive, nostalgic mew which we will hear long after Tommy-Tommy is dead.

For he is doomed. He will grow like the old wild cat I saw for an instant on the edge of Hangghigh Wood. He is already halfway to the complete shyness of the wild.

I SAW Tommy-Tommy the other evening, and he saw me. He stared, crouching by a bramble bush, and remained staring while I called his name. His mouth opened, but no sound came. As I walked towards him he slid under the bush, and when I peered I could not see him. Man and animal were finally severed.

He is doomed. He has already forgotten the taste of rats. He hunts rabbits. The half-impersonal skill of rat-killing has changed to the silent fury of full-power killing. That feeling is dulled, or transmuted, by civilisation.

A cat returned wild will pursue young game birds, and it is the law of the wild that it is a good life while it lasts.

A sudden charge of shot... and all that will remain of Tommy-Tommy will be a woodland patch of wild violets larger than the others; a pair of warm gloves for tractor driving; a plaintive cadence from the starlings in the trees above the chalk quarry.

DON BRADMAN COMPLETES 2,000 RUNS FOR SEASON

MAKES SPLENDID KNOCK OF 144 AGAINST NOTTS

DOUBLE CENTURIES BY HAMMOND, WASHBROOK

London, July 19.
Don Bradman, the Australian cricket captain, completed his 2,000 runs for the present tour in England to-day by hitting up 144 against Notts at Nottingham and helped the tourists to beat their hosts by 412 runs.

Bradman displayed some wonderful off-driving in his innings, which lasted 179 minutes, and hit up a six and 17 fours.

A. L. Hassett gave his skipper splendid support with a knock of 124 and helped to put on 216 runs in 140 minutes. Hassett played a chanceless innings, being brilliant in his driving and leg-shots. His best scoring strokes were a six and 16 fours.

In the first innings, Australia scored 243 and in reply Notts made 147. Batting again, Australia declared at 453 for four wickets, the chief scorers being Bradman and Hassett.

Notts failed again at bat, being all out for 137, of which J. Hardstaff, who has been selected for the Fourth Test at Leeds, made 67 not out. L.O.B. Fleetwood-Smith was in one of his good moods and sent back five Notts batsmen for 39 runs.

ESSEX v. SUSSEX

At Colchester, Essex defeated Sussex by an innings and 13 runs.

Sussex scored 124 (Ray Smith 5 for 38) and 308, while Essex, in their only innings, declared at 335 for six wickets, of which Taylor made 193 and T. N. Pearce 121 not out.

NORTHANTS v. HAMPSHIRE

At Northampton, Northants took points on first innings from Hampshire.

Hampshire scored only 97 in their first innings (Partridge 5 for 29 and Buswell 4 for 41) and 301 for nine wickets declared in the second, while Northants put up 190 and 133 for 6.

WARWICK v. WORCESTER

At Birmingham, Warwickshire took points on first innings from Worcestershire.

Worcester totalled 132 (Mayer 4 for 30) and 190 (Holles 5 for 76), and Warwick replied with 190 for seven wickets declared.

DERBY v. LEICESTER

At Derby, Leicestershire beat Derbyshire on first innings.

Derby hit up 149 in their first innings, Smith taking five wickets for 48 runs. Leicester, in reply, declared at 155 for eight wickets.

Going in again, Derby declared at 200 for eight wickets, and Leicester had made 53 for four wickets when stumps were drawn.

GLOUCESTER v. LANCASHIRE

Splendid batting by Washbrook of Lancashire and Walter Hammond of Gloucester in this match played at Bristol. Each man hit up a double century, and Gloucester took points on first innings.

Leading Performers

The following were the leading performers in the Cricket programme just completed in England:

Batting

W. R. Hammond (Gloucester) v. Lancashire	271
Washbrook (Lancashire) v. Gloucester	219*
Taylor (Essex) v. Sussex	193
Don Bradman (Australians) v. Notts	144
A. L. Hassett (Australians) v. Notts	124
T. N. Pearce (Essex) v. Sussex	121*
Fagg (Kent) v. Surrey	91
Hardstaff (Notts) v. Australians	97*
* Denotes not out.

Bowling

Partridge (Northants) v. Hampshire	5 for 29
Ray Smith (Essex) v. Sussex	5 for 38
L. O'B. Fleetwood-Smith (Australians) v. Notts	5 for 39
Smith (Leicesters) v. Derby	5 for 48
Holles (Warwickshire) v. Leicester	5 for 76
Mayer (Warwickshire) v. Leicester	4 for 30
Buswell (Northants) v. Hampshire	4 for 41

Lancashire declared their first innings at 426 for nine wickets, Washbrook contributing 219 not out. Gloucester did even better than that with 561, due mainly to the effort of Hammond who knocked up 271.

In the second innings, Lancashire had scored 105 for one wicket at close of play.

SURREY v. KENT

At the Oval, Surrey defeated Kent by six wickets.

To Kent's first innings total of 337, A. Fagg, who hit up a double century in each innings against Essex in the match before, contributed 91. In the second knock, Kent scored 202.

Surrey replied with 333 and 210 for four wickets.—Reuter.

C.M. Silva Causes First Serious Bowls Upset

"This is the way to come in!" seems to be what R. Fitches of the Hongkong F.C. is telling his skip, J. Skinner, but nevertheless the pink lost to A. H. Bastie's four by eight shots. This picture was taken at Happy Valley on Saturday in the Third Division bowls match between the Hongkong F.C. and the Kowloon Tong Club.—Pictorial News.

ELIMINATES HOLDER OF OPEN SINGLES TITLE OF COLONY

U. M. Omar Outplayed By Young Recreio "Hope"

The first real sensation of the 1938 bowls championships was registered on the Kowloon B.G.C. green yesterday when U. M. Omar, holder of the singles title and considered one of the most consistent players in the Colony, was eliminated from the tournament in the first round by C. M. Silva, a comparative newcomer to the game.

"Player-Writer" System To Be Attacked

London, June 30.
Because of flagrant breaches of rules during the current Wimbledon tournament, there is likely to be a new effort to stop the so-called "player-writer" racket in amateur lawn tennis.

Officials of the Lawn Tennis Association are becoming alarmed at the advantage which has been taken of the slackening of this clause in the rules, following an inquiry a few years ago.

Repeatedly, during the past few days, articles appearing under the names of players performing at Wimbledon have not only criticised fellow-players, but have forecast the results of matches in which the writers were due to take part.

In no other sport is this tolerated. Some members of the L.T.A. Council feel so strongly on the matter that it is almost certain to be raised at the first available opportunity.

The rules prohibit an amateur advertising his name, or permitting his name to be advertised as the author of any book or press article on the game of which he is not the actual author.

Few of the so-called writers are the actual authors of articles appearing under their names.

WATER POLO MATCH

Brilliant shooting by Stanley Lee, who chalked up four goals to his credit in the second half, enabled the Victoria Recreation Club "B" team to beat the Royal Engineers by five goals to one in a water polo match at the V.R.C. yesterday.

Omar was completely outplayed from the start by the wonderful consistency of his young opponent, who went off with a rush by taking a four on the first head, followed up by a two on the second.

Thereafter Silva was always in the lead, and after the 13th head he was ahead 10-5 up. Then Omar scored a three to reduce the deficit, but it was an unavailing effort, as Silva took a brace on the next head to clinch the match.

It was a splendid performance on the part of Silva to outplay such a doughty opponent. Of the 16 heads played, he scored on no fewer than ten. Omar was successful in only five, in which he had three singles, a two and a three.

Though he has taken up the game only quite recently, Silva has done very well indeed in this year's open competitions. With F. K. Soares, a club-mate, he is now in the final of the open pairs championship. This early success augurs well for his bowls career in the Colony.

OTHER MATCHES
On an adjoining rink, R. F. da Luz, a former holder of the title, defeated J. S. Howell by 21-13 on the 18th head.

Though he was beaten by an eight-shot margin, Howell scored on as many heads as his opponent, but whereas Luz had a four, two threes and five twos, Howell could go no higher than twos, of which he had four. The remainder of his successful heads were singles.

Luz led 10-5 on the eighth head, 14-9 on the eleventh, 10-9 on the thirteenth and 10-13 on the 17th. Playing on the Hongkong F.C. green, J. G. Meyer defeated W. Hillier by 21-17, while J. Watson beat C. S. Rossetti by 21-8.

ALLISS BEST OF THE LEAGUE GOLFERS

By Verdant

London, June 19.

Percy Alliss, the match-play champion, gained his rightful place at the head of the field in the £1,000 "Penfold" league tournament at Sandy Lodge, Northwood, yesterday.

He won the first prize with a total of 16 points, while Reginald Whitcombe, the youngest of three famous golfing brothers, and Bert Gadd (West Cheshire), one of the leading golfers of the North, tied for second prize with 15 points each.

In this novel tournament the twelve professionals, who had the best average scores during last year's competitions qualified to take part. Each played the other an 18-holes match, two points being scored for a win and one for a half.

Alliss, who was not among the leading twelve on average scores, qualified by virtue of his success in the "News of the World" tournament, the unofficial professional match play championship, and he confirmed his right to the title by his play in the Penfold tournament.

Yesterday's exciting play there were three matches upon which the ultimate result rested. Alliss and Whitcombe led the field each with 15 points. Gadd had scored 14 when the day's play began. One of these three was certain to win.

Alliss was opposed to Pat Mahon, of Dublin, a golfer who had been unfortunate enough to win only two games, but Mahon did not take the result as a foregone conclusion.

The Little Irishman was two down at the third, two down with nine played, and then squared the match at the 13th.

TIGHT FINISH

In a desperate finish both made errors and holes were exchanged until Mahon made the fatal error of taking three putts at the 17th to become one down.

Alliss, with victory waiting to be picked up, bunkered his tee shot at the eighteenth and Mahon won the hole to finish all square.

Alliss could now be overhauled. Whitcombe had to beat Henry Cotton, the open champion, to finish a point ahead of the leader, and in a great match he looked like doing so.

Cotton had not played well all through the week, but he played like a real champion against Whitcombe, going round in 68 to win on the home green.

It was cruel luck for Whitcombe, who made Cotton fight for his halves and went out in 32 to be one up. He was two up with eight to play, and lost his first hole at the twelfth.

Cotton, who had nothing to gain by winning, sympathised with his beaten opponent, whom he had deprived of first prize.

Now came Bert Gadd, with a chance to tie with Alliss, provided he could beat Richard Burton, another British international.

Gadd had only once been beaten—he had halved four matches—during the week, but he could not secure the two points; he only halved with Burton.

Out in 34, Burton turned one up in a desperate match. They exchanged holes all the way home, but the two holes that mattered most were the 13th, where Burton drove over the green and chipped back dead, while Gadd, on the green from the tee, took three putts and lost a hole he should have won.

The other was the 17th, where Burton, one down, holed a putt of about seven yards to square. That made another halved match for Gadd.

ELEVENTH SERIES.—P. J. Mahon and P. Alliss halved; T. H. Cotton beat Reg Whitcombe, 2 up; A. J. Lacey beat S. L. King, 1 up; R. Burton and B. Gadd halved; Abe Mitchell beat Chas. Whitcombe, 4 and 2; W. J. Branch beat A. H. Padgman, 2 and 1.

FINAL PLACINGS.—P. Alliss, 16pts; R. A. Whitcombe and B. Gadd, 15; T. H. Cotton, A. J. Lacey, and R. Burton, 12; S. L. King and A. H. Padgman, 11; W. J. Branch, B. C. Whitcombe, 8; A. Mitchell, 6; P. J. Mahon, 5.

BRUNDAGE DEFENDS OLYMPICS

Chicago, June 10.
The American Olympic Committee, in the opinion of its chairman, Avery Brundage, is but the agent of America's amateur athletes who "want to engage in fair and wholesome competition with their friends, the athletes and sportsmen of 50 other Nations, regardless of politics, religion or race."

Brundage made that statement last night in commenting on the resignation from the committee of William J. Bingham, Harvard Athletic Director and chairman of the 1936 U. S. Olympic Track and Field Committee. Bingham has dissociated himself from all connections with the 1940 games, awarded to Japan.

Brundage said the Committee can do nothing, nor is it attempting to do anything, about the conflict between Japan and China. Expressing regret that the Committee would no longer have the support of Bingham, Brundage said that "if the International Olympic Committee had to find a country whose present and past history was free from war and aggression in which to hold the games, there would be no games."

FARR MAY MEET LOUIS IN LONDON

London, June 30.
Tommy Farr may fight Joe Louis for his world heavy-weight boxing championship in London late this summer.

A wealthy London syndicate is waiting for confirmation from Mike Jacobs of an offer they have cabled Louis to defend his title here for a guaranteed £240,000.

Representative of the syndicate, which includes two wealthy Englishmen and a Canadian, is French-Canadian sports promoter, Armand Vincent.

He said that if his plans matured he would bring Jack Dempsey across to referee, provided the British Board of Control agreed.

"It can make it pay all right. I would charge from 12s. 6d. to 25 5s for seats."

NURMI DISCUSSES PRESENT WORLD
RUNNING RECORDS

Thinks Many Performances
Can Still Be Bettered

Paavo Nurmi in an interview with the Norwegian "Sportsmanden" and other Finnish and Norwegian newspapers set forth his views on the prospects for the records for various running distances, on the occasion of the shortly-to-close Northern Light Athletic season.

It is Mr. Nurmi's expressed opinion that the world records for the complete distances of 800 to 10,000 metres in the next few years will be well bettered. "I would like to believe this," says the king of the runners, "that Henry Jonsson (Sweden), at the moment the best in the world for the popular distances of 3,000 and 5,000 metres, will accomplish the last named distance (5,000 m.) in the time of 14.10."

In so far as the 800 m. distance is concerned, Nurmi does not wish to be taken as absolute authority, but "according to my clear conviction, the world record for this distance is the weakest in the tables. Cunningham's 1.49.7 does not belong to the best running performances, and I also do not consider Woodruff's unrecognized 1.47.8 as a highest possible score."

WRONG TACTICS

According to Nurmi the world's record must lie below 1.45 in order to be of true class, "and when some day a runner will come—and it will not take so very long—who can run this distance with full tactics (I take this to mean proper form) then the record will slide down to 1.42. To-day they run the 800 m. distance in a crazy fashion, with the second 400 m. being run 3 to 5 seconds slower than the first. There should be, however, at the most, a difference of not more than one-half a second between the first and second rounds—a runner who can hold out and who is swift need not find that it brings any difficulty to do this—run two 400 distances one after the other in 51 to 52 seconds."

"All the record set by Jack Lovelock for the 1,500 m. at 3.47.8 does not incur any too great respect on my part," the great Finn goes on to say. "When the time will be lowered to 3.43 then we will stand at the threshold of the peak of man's endurance for the distance. I believe that San Romani is good for such a result, and also Cunningham has prospects of bettering his time. The same naturally is true for Lovelock, in the event that he wishes to start again."

"Unfortunately I have not seen the Englishman Wooderson," says Nurmi, "and therefore I am not in a position to speak of his qualifications with any authority. His records for the middle distances seem to be, however, of very good class. My express meaning is also in this case, that the present tactics (form or method of running) are not correct."

True the world records for the 3,000 metre distance have been bettered again and again in the past few years, but Mr. Nurmi is of the opinion that the peak has not been reached, and that the Finn Gunnar Hockert will not enjoy his record of 8.14.8 as world's best very long. This record must be lowered by 8 seconds, in other words, to 1,500 m. runs—one following the other in a period of four minutes. When one considers how the speed among the runners for the longer distances has unfolded itself more and more, we must conclude that two such distances of 1,500 metres are not an impossibility for a strong and speedy young man.

According to Nurmi's opinion, considered as an individual, Henry Jonsson (Sweden) is the best in the world, but this does not mean that in a race with all the stars on the starting line that he will be the winner. He still lacks form. But this is a thing that will remedy itself with time, and he is without a doubt the man to bring about a really peak record for the 3,000 m. distance. "When I say," prophesies Nurmi further, "that Jonsson or another could reduce Lehtinen's world record for 5,000 metres in the time of 14.17 to the time of 14.00 and that Salminen can reduce his time of 30.05.8 for the 10,000 metres to 29.20, these are not just big words. RECORDS EXPECTED

"When Edwin Wide and I began to ruminate on the world's records, and to invest them with international style, we were doubtless just as good as the best people of our day. We, however, did not have just the same purposes as these people did, and we could not work upon the same basis as now. The modern training for the long distances was at that time virtually unknown, and the results were for many distances of quite a modest class."

"It is therefore my conviction that there are in the offing strong improvements in the records for the 5,000 m. as well as the 10,000 m. Salminen is, after all, now quite old, but still despite that fact the best man in the world for over the mile, and in the position to lower the time of 30 minutes considerably."

TRIUMPH AT TENNIS

Exhibition Games
In Ireland

Dublin, July 19.
In an exhibition tennis match played here to-day, Donald Budge, the world's leading amateur, defeated Kho Sin-ke, the Chinese champion, by 6-0, 7-5.

Kho was swept off his feet by the severity of the American's stroking in the first set, but he put up a much better fight in the second when he was able to hold his own in the rallies. In a doubles match Budge and Gene Mako beat George Lyttelton-Rogers of Ireland and M. Chikos of Hungary by 7-5, 6-1, 6-3. Mako completed the American triumph with a win over Lyttelton-Rogers by 6-2, 6-0.—United Press.

U.S.R.C. Tourney Starts

(By "Abe")

The hardcourt tennis championship of the Colony, organized by the United Services Recreation Club last year and which proved so successful, will once again be a feature of the local tennis season. The Tennis Committee of the U.S.R.C., comprising Major T. F. Baines, Capt. G. S. Bates, Mr. G. F. R. Divett and Capt. G. L. Edwards, R.M., have decided to organize the tournament again.

It is announced that the championships will commence on August 29. Entry forms will be sent to the secretary of every club affiliated to the Hongkong Lawn Tennis Association in due course. Entries close on August 22.

Last year's events, men's open singles and doubles, attracted a large number of entries and proved very enjoyable, and it is hoped that local tennis players will once again support the tournament.

Tau Wai-pui, the Colony champion, won the singles title last year and, with W. C. Hung, he also carried off the doubles.

It is understood that the practice last year of allotting courts for one day to each club will not be followed this year; but applications may be made by players to the U.S.R.C. for courts for practice. All applications must be made 48 hours before the courts are wanted.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed Full of Vim and Vigor.
The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks puny.
Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those famous Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." If you are, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red package. Refuse anything else.

A 1/2 WAY TOOTH PASTE CAN'T FIGHT THE TWO-WAY BATTLE ..against tooth decay ..against gum infection

One enemy—decay—attacks teeth. Another—pyorrhea—threatens gums. This second enemy is so dangerous that 4 out of 5 people over 40 suffer from it. Merely brushing your teeth is but half the battle. Brush both teeth and gums with FORHAN'S and defeat both enemies. Forhan's contains a special gum-protecting ingredient found in no other toothpaste—Dr. Forhan's famous Astringent. So, in addition to making teeth sparkling white, Forhan's keeps gums sound, firm and healthy. Start using Forhan's today!

HERE'S A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY FOR YOU TO WIN THIS ALL WAVE

"WESTINGHOUSE" RADIO FREE

DONATED BY BOSCO RADIO CORPORATION FREE

TO WIN THIS PRIZE OF THE "GIRL OF THE GOLDEN WEST CONTEST"

All that you have to do is to guess the number of people expected to attend, by paid admissions, all showings of the METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER production entitled "THE GIRL OF THE GOLDEN WEST," commencing Thursday, 21st to 25th July, at the KING'S THEATRE. The contestant who guesses the correct number or the nearest thereto will be declared the winner of the radio.

RULES OF THE CONTEST—There is no entrance fee to this contest. Each guess must be submitted on a sheet of paper with your name and address and mailed to the King's Theatre "Girl of the Golden West Guessing Contest", not later than THURSDAY NOON, JULY 21. Entries received after the expiration period will not be accepted for participation in the contest. Each guess must also be accompanied by your retained portion of the ticket to see the METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER production entitled "MANNEQUIN" starring Joan Crawford, which will be exhibited on July 17-20 inclusive at the King's Theatre. Each entrant can submit as many guesses as one desires, but each guess must be accompanied by the retained portion of the ticket for "MANNEQUIN".

This contest will not be open to anyone associated with the Motion Picture industry or the employees of the Bosco Radio Corporation.

Entries will be numbered consecutively in order of their receipt and in the event that two or more individuals may strike upon the correct number or nearest thereto, the radio will be awarded to the person whose entry was first received by the King's Theatre.

The public is cordially invited to be present at the King's Theatre office on Tuesday, 26th July, at 11 a.m. for the opening of the entries. The decision of the winner will rest on the Management of King's Theatre and will be announced in all leading Newspapers of the Colony.

As a partial aid to contestants, we hereby inform them that the picture "THE GIRL OF THE GOLDEN WEST" will be exhibited for 20 performances, and that the maximum seating capacity of each performance is 1,087.

THE RADIO IS NOW ON DISPLAY IN THE KING'S THEATRE.

CHINESE HOLDING GRIMLY

Shore Guns Halt Naval Attack

Hankow, July 20.
Severe fighting is progressing on the south bank of the Yangtze River near Lion Hill, where the Chinese are battling desperately in terrific heat to halt the Japanese advance.
Despite support from more than 20 gunboats which poured a steady stream of lead into the Chinese lines, the Chinese claim that the Japanese have failed to make much progress during the past 24 hours.
According to a Chinese military communiqué a flotilla of 40 Japanese warships, accompanied by over ten motor launches, dropped anchor at Yanchowan, at the neck of Poyang Lake, with the intention of landing men on the north bank of the Yangtze, but the Chinese shore batteries opened up such an intensive fire that the warships were forced to retire without accomplishing their purpose.

HOPEI TOWNS RECAPTURED BY GUERRILLAS

Hankow, July 20.
Loting, one of the most prosperous districts on the Luan River in Hopei Province, has been retaken by Chinese guerrillas, according to a Tientsin message.

After regaining the city, the guerrillas are now pressing on Changli on the Peiping-Liaoning Railway, 220 kilometres east of Tientsin.

Yihshien, important town on the Hsin-Yi branch line of the Peiping-Hankow Railway, was re-occupied by other Chinese guerrilla units in a night attack on the same day. The Yihshien station was also raided. The station building and sections of rails were destroyed. The guerrillas are pushing toward Laishui, 10 kilometres east of Yihshien.

Meanwhile, heavy fighting is reported to be proceeding between guerrillas and Japanese troops on the Hopei-Shansi border.—Central News.

TWO INJURED IN FALLS

Attempting to recover a kite which had fallen on a roof, a 15-year-old boy, Lai Wai, slipped and fell in Hollywood Road yesterday, and was sent to the Queen Mary hospital with concussion.

A fractured skull was sustained by a woman named Chik Ua, 33, when she fell from the third floor of a building under reconstruction in Clarence Terrace yesterday. She was sent to the same hospital.

BURNED BY ACID

Two street coolies, Lo Yip and Lau Wai, were sent to the Queen Mary hospital yesterday, suffering from corrosive acid burns to the legs and body when a glass jar of acid which they were carrying fell and broke at Des Voeux Road West.

NAZIS EXTEND TRADE WITH MANCHUKUO

Tokyo, July 20.
The Nishitetsu Shimbun, leading daily here, reported this morning that a new trade agreement has been concluded between Germany and Manchukuo.

The new agreement, according to the paper, will double the values of trade between the two countries, while Germany will grant to Manchukuo a credit amounting to Yen 65,000,000.

Under this new agreement, Germany will increase her annual purchases of soy beans and of other Manchukuo products from Yen 10,000,000 to Yen 20,000,000, while Manchukuo's annual purchases of machines and of other goods from Germany will be increased from Yen 25,000,000 to Yen 50,000,000.

The paper also understands that separate trade agreements will be concluded between Germany and Japan.—Domei.

CHOLERA CASES NOW TOTAL 184

Another eight new cases of cholera were reported in Hongkong during the past 24 hours, including six from the city of Victoria. The total number of cases for the year is now 184. In addition there were three further cases of dysentery, bringing the aggregate to 493, one case of enteric fever, and one of meningitis.

STRONGER ACTION DEMANDED

Japan Dissatisfied With Steps Taken To Stop Terrorism

Shanghai, July 20.

Despite the new emergency proclamation of the Shanghai Council aiming at the stamping out of widespread terrorism that has flourished in the International Settlement for months past, local Japanese are agitating for still stronger action in view of the approach of August 13, anniversary of the date of the outbreak of fighting in the Shanghai area.

A statement bitterly assailing the Municipal Police for failure to seize "even a single culprit" in the July 7 outrages, has been issued by the Foreign Relations Committee of the Japanese Residents Corporation.

Japanese reports state that demands for more drastic measures by the municipal police against terrorists will be conveyed to the Japanese Consulate-General by the President of the Corporation for transmission to the Municipal Council.

The alleged inefficiency of the Municipal Police is ascribed in the statement to "lack of training" and to the negligence of responsible police officials.—Reuter.

MISTOOK BRASS FOR GOLD; GOES TO GAOL

For mistaking a 15 cent brass ear-ring for something more valuable, and attempting to get away with it, Yau Hing, 26, unemployed, arrived before Mr. H. R. Butlers at the Central Magistracy this morning, and was charged with the theft from a woman named Wu Yee, 60, in Queen's Road West, yesterday.

Inspector W. Mair prosecuted, and said that the man was chased and arrested by a constable after he had snatched the earring from the complainant.

SHANGHAI WILL MOVE INDUSTRY

Kweilin, July 20.

A group of leading financiers and industrialists from Shanghai is making plans for the development of the industries in Kwangsi, Yunnan, Kweichow and Szechwan.

They have formed a South-west Industrial Association, and have sent an investigation party to study the industrial conditions in the provinces concerned. Special attention is being paid by them to the mineral resources in Kwangsi.—Central News.
